$50,000 Bribe Attempt Claim Rocks Probe

Socreds Reject Perrault Bid To Call Evidence

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi claimed to have evidence that a top Liberal tried to bribe a U.S. contractor to "get him." Liberal Leader Ray Perrault charged today.

Mr. Perrault said the highways minister told him personally he had evidence which "could blow this hearing sky high."

When the legislature's public accounts committee refused to call for the evidence this morning, Mr. Perrault threatened to resign from it.

The committee is hearing allegations of highway graft. The government majority on the committee—eight Socreds—defeated Mr. Perrault's motion to either get the evidence or seek permission of the House to turn the whole inquiry over to a Supreme Court judge.

Mr. Perrault told the committee Mr. Gaglardi had called him out of the legislature last Wednesday.

"He claimed to have on his desk two affidavits purporting to link a high ranking Liberal with attempts to bribe a person who is now a witness at these hearings."

Mr. Perrault said Mr. Gaglardi told him the witness was Clyde W. Thornton, who has already testified that he never received favors from Mr. Gaglardi in government projects.

Offer Mentioned
He said Mr. Gaglardi mentioned an offer of $50,000 to $100,000 from the Liberal, whom he wouldn't identify.

Mr. Perrault had copies of a letter he wrote to the minister immediately after this conversation, calling upon him to present his affidavits to the inquiry.

It came back with this handwritten note on the envelope: "I would appreciate you destroying this note and forget I ever talked to you. I only deal from the top of the deck. Thank you kindly. Phil."

The hearing adjourned until 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, when it will hear a federal government works employee who inspected Project 819, the centre of the allegations of graft.

Private Fight
Victoria Socred J. Donald Smith termed Mr. Perrault's statement "a private fight" which should not spread to the committee.

Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) ruled Mr. Perrault's motion out of order.

He said the committee had already decided that it would hear witnesses—not affidavits.

If there was any matter which anybody thought should go before the Supreme Court, he told Mr. Perrault, then it was up to them to take it there.

He said Mr. Gaglardi would be able to "clear up the matter" when he is called as a witness.

"I'll be glad to," the minister called from the sidelines.

Mr. Perrault insisted that he be allowed at least to file his letter and Mr. Gaglardi's answer.

"We don't want the letter," said Waldo Skillings (SC-Victoria).

Committee counsel Lloyd G. McKenzie backed Mr. Corbett on the affidavits, but suggested they should be filed in the legislature.

Confidence Betrayed
"I think it's a betrayal of personal confidence," Mr. Skillings said.

"Is the minister of highways attempting to intimidate any member of the committee?" asked Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

"He's too small to intimidate anybody," said Mr. Skillings.

Mr. Corbett repeated his ruling and it was upheld by a vote of seven to five.

Mr. Perrault, white-faced, left Courtroom D where the hearings have been under way at the Law Courts for more than two weeks.

"I'm seriously considering withdrawing from these hearings," Mr. Perrault said.

He said he would assess his position later today.

He went back into the hearing for the rest of the morning then headed straight for a Liberal caucus meeting at lunchtime.

Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) questioned E. H. Barclay, resident engineer on project 819, controversial estimate number five, finally getting the engineer to admit his explanation of a change in the amount of material listed was "worthless."

"Would I be fair in concluding in my own mind that the changed estimate number five was done in Victoria completely, and not on your instruction?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

The engineer explained that he and highways department regional engineer D. J. Gormley went over the estimate and Mr. Gormley phoned the highways department in Victoria to have the figures altered.

Mr. Barclay said that after five years—the work was done in 1957—he was trying to "get an approximation of how the estimate was changed."

Drew Up Tables
He drew up some tables covering two stations on the highway project near Kay Falls and Craigellachie, in explanation of the changes, which was Continued on Page 2.

Honourable P.A. Gaglardi,
Minister of Highways,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mr. Gaglardi,

This afternoon, you will recall, you asked me to step outside of the House to discuss with you some of the aspects of the current hearings before the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

During the course of our conversation, you advised me that you "had on your desk" two affidavits of such a serious nature that they could "blow this hearing wide open". You indicated to me that "a highly-placed Liberal was involved". You intimated to me that this "man" had offered large sums of money to the witness Clyde Thornton to "get you".

As I expressed to you at the time of our meeting, I have absolutely no knowledge of the matters or the affidavits to which you referred.

In view of the situation, I am writing to make my position on this matter perfectly clear. I consider it your duty to turn over to the Public Accounts Committee, by way of the Committee's legal counsel, forthwith any information or documents in your possession which relate in any way to the matters before the Committee.

If you have any material which discloses or suggests impropriety on the part of any individual or individuals in relation to the Government, its officials or its civil servants, I regard it as your duty to act immediately by placing such material in the hands of the proper authorities.

6:50 PM,
March 20th, 1963.

Yours very truly,

P. A. Gaglardi

DIEF ARRIVES ON ISLAND

Foreign Aid Welching Denied

Prime Minister Diefenbaker was scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 3 p.m. today. He was to go directly to the Empress Hotel to rest before addressing a meeting at 8 p.m. in Bay Street Armory.

By PETER LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today denied Washington charges that Canada is welching on foreign aid.

He said in an interview: "Canada has been one of the leaders" in this field.

He said his government has increased Colombo Plan contributions from $35 million to $50 million.

"If we're not giving enough today, what must the situation have been when we came into office?" he asked.

His comments, his first after arriving in British Columbia Sunday night, were in reply to charges made on the weekend by a special U.S. committee set up by President Kennedy. (See stories page 7.)

NEARLY DELAYED

The Diefenbaker arrival at the coast was almost delayed by a mountain slide.

The CPR "Canadian" passenger train, which followed the Diefenbaker train by 2½ hours, struck a 50-ton boulder. No one was injured at though the locomotive was derailed in Albert Canyon near Revelstoke.

CPR officials were unable to say how long it was after the prime minister's train had passed that the boulder came down.

The "Canadian" was expected to be delayed nine hours, officials added.

SMALL CROWDS
Since his arrival in the province, the prime minister has been greeted by small crowds.

Between 50 and 80 persons met him at whistle stops at Golden and Revelstoke, where he did no speechmaking but much handshaking.

At Vancouver, his arrival was quiet except for two bagpipers. Only a handful of people were at the trackside.

He ate breakfast in the station cafe, where the 138 persons seated with him appeared as a large crowd. About 62 persons, several of them carrying Tory placards, stood outside.

WITH GREENS
The prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker shared a table with External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Mrs. Green, when not table-hopping.

Vancouver Tory candidates Fergie Browne and Douglas Jung also were present. B.C. Conservative Association president Cecil Merritt, VC, had accompanied the prime minister from Revelstoke.

The breakfast was climaxed by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" to which the prime minister replied: "Everywhere the swing is in our favor."

He said he made the same prediction in 1957 and in 1958.

He said it would be impossible to describe the change in public opinion toward his party in recent days.

"We've been assisted by the Opposition—I give them full marks," the prime minister added.

He referred in this to the Liberal comic color book, the "truth squad" and the pigeons used to ridicule Tory candidate Louis Pigeon in a Quebec riding.

One of the staunch Tories at the breakfast, Vancouver lawyer Edward McCullough, left in an angry mood. Someone had stolen his hat, he said.

In his search, he checked the blue Homburg worn by the PM's aide, B. T. Richardson.

Mr. Richardson earlier had sharp words for a Vancouver radio reporter, blaming him for holding a microphone too close to the prime minister's face while pictures were being taken.

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking printers have ratified a new contract with New York's eight closed daily newspapers. But the last of four striking unions, the photo engravers, continued to hold out today for a better agreement, delaying resumption of publication.

Sub-Zero Cold, Little Food For Man, Woman

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)—A man and a woman were rescued from the frozen wilds of northern British Columbia today, 50 days after their plane crashed into a mountain side 75 miles southeast of here. Both were injured and had been without food for more than a month.

Pilot Ralph Flores, 42, of San Bruno, Calif., and Helen Klaben, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., were picked up by a small aircraft and flown to Watson Lake.

Their single-engine Howard aircraft vanished Feb. 4 on a flight from Whitehorse, Y.T., to Fort St. John, B.C. The wreckage and an SOS were spotted accidentally Sunday by a Watson Lake pilot.

A pilot who helped in the rescue said Miss Klaben had gangrene in a broken right foot and a broken right arm in a splint. Flores suffered broken ribs.

CRIED IN HIS ARMS
Rescue pilot Jack McCallum said Miss Klaben "cried in my arms" when we reached. She was thin but in "good spirits."

McCallum said the pair had nothing to eat after they had gone through two cans of fruit and two cans of sardines seven days after the crash.

There was no other food aboard the crashed aircraft. They melted snow for drinking water.

McCallum said the couple had no sleeping bags, no axe and no rifle. The temperature had dropped to 40 degrees below zero during the ordeal.

The snow was deep. Flores and his passenger had moved down the mountain side and set up a tarpaulin for shelter. Wood for a fire was chopped with a hammer and chisel.

TRAPPED OUT SOS
Reports from the scene indicated that it took Flores three days to tramp out an SOS in snow near the crash. The plane came down about six miles from an abandoned trapper's cabin.

Chuck Hamilton, Yukon Flying Services pilot, spotted the wreckage during a flight Sunday with supplies for a big game guide.

It was not known for sure until today whether the two persons seen by Hamilton near the wreckage were Flores and Miss Klaben.

The injured woman was carried down the hillside to a waiting rescue plane.

Komish, Yukon Flying Services manager, said before flying to the scene at daybreak that finding survivors "will be a miracle."

Miss Klaben was reported down to 90 pounds.

The giant SOS stamped in the snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

SEARCHERS QUIT
Organized search for the Flores plane was suspended by the RCAF March 6 after an area of 147,603 square miles had been covered from the air.

Komish said in a phone interview with an Edmonton radio station that a giant SOS, stamped in the deep snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

Hamilton said he saw two persons, one of them a woman, near the wing of a plane on the side of a 1,000-foot mountain about six miles from Aerophone Lake.

He said smoke from a nearby campfire obscured his vision. He saw "N588" on the wing. The Flores plane was marked "N58856."

Komish said the missing plane did not carry the "best and most modern" survival equipment. Search officials reported the plane carried high frequency radio equipment.

DOG TEAM SETS OUT
Two trappers Hamilton met at Aerophone Lake Sunday planned to set out for the area by dog team. There was plenty of snow, ranging in depth from 26 to 43 inches.

Flores had gone to the Yukon in October, 1960, to work on the Distant Early Warning line as a mechanic. He was flying home. Miss Klaben, a former employee of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in Fairbanks, Alaska, was on her way to Seattle to catch a plane for Brooklyn to visit her mother, Mrs. Ida Klaben.

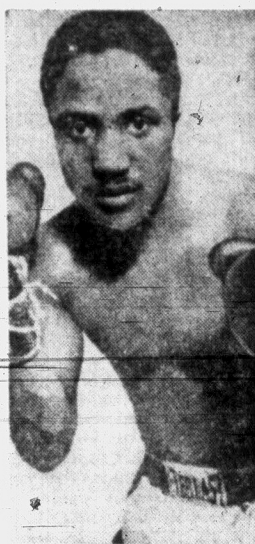

The plane had fuel for six hours flying time when it left Whitehorse on the afternoon of Feb. 4 on a 3½-hour flight to Fort St. John.

On the same day that the Howard aircraft disappeared, a twin-engine private plane ran into icy conditions in the Fort St. John area and made a forced landing at Little Boulder, B.C.

However, that aircraft was undamaged and its two occupants, Ernest Wright of Kaslo, B.C., the pilot, and Cadl C. Carriere of Spokane, Wash., were uninjured.

In Brooklyn, Mrs. Ida Klaben described her daughter as a "beautiful girl, very athletic in all ways," with skill at various sports, including skiing, hunting and trapping game.

Gunmen Get $45,000

MONTREAL (UPI)—Two men today held 10 bank employees at gunpoint and robbed a Royal Bank of Canada branch of an estimated $45,000.

Guatemala in Siege To Fight Sabotage

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—The government declared a state of siege today because of a "vast plot" aimed at its overthrow.

The presidential decree, revoking constitutional guarantees for 30 days came after weekend acts of sabotage and terrorism which the government attributed to "armed bands of subversive elements."

These include cutting communications lines between Guatemala City and the Atlantic port of Puerto Barrios and seizures of dynamite and subversive documents in the border town of Pedro Alvarado. The government said there had been "contacts" between national guardsmen and anti-government forces, but did not elaborate.

"Recognized Communist elements acting in concert with countries of the same ideology have prepared a vast plan of agitation and violence throughout the national territory endangering public order, life and property . . . whose principal objective . . . is to overthrow the constitutional government," an official statement said.

entered as an exhibit by previous witness E. C. Webster.

"Would you like to draw this document as a worthwhile document before this committee?" Mr. Strachan asked the witness.

"If you like," Mr. Barclay said.

"Mr. Webster put it in," secretary Dan Campbell pointed out.

Mr. McKelzie said it is for the committee to decide whether the document is worth while.

Mr. Strachan suggested the exhibit was worthless.

'Kind of Worthless'

"I suppose you would say it is kind of worthless," the engineer replied.

Assistant counsel for the highways department, Ted Broadmead, asked if there had been any preferential treatment shown by the department to L and M Logging or Union Contractors on Project 819.

"No," Mr. Barclay said.

Mr. Barclay repeated earlier testimony that the extra $100,000 payment, allegedly for work never done, was nearly all for one month's rock-hauling.

Mr. Strachan said this completely repudiated earlier statements both by Mr. Gagliardi, outside the hearing, and his construction director, E. C. Webster, who said the money was a "pickup" for work done in earlier months.

Mr. Barclay gave project estimate sheets, showing how much work had been done each month, to Mr. Lymburner. "I think I was told to give them to him," Mr. Lymburner said.

He said it "didn't mean anything to me" that Mr. Lymburner flew the sheets to Victoria.

Pearault Statement

Mr. Pearault's statement follows:

"I feel it my duty to report to this committee that I have been approached by a principal in this investigation before us who alleges that there is in his possession evidence with respect to matters under investigation here which, to use his words, could blow this hearing sky high."

This principal in question, is the minister of highways, who on the afternoon of Wednesday last called me out of the House and made the remarks which I have quoted.

At that time he claimed to have on his desk two affidavits purporting to link a high ranking Liberal with attempts to bribe a person who is now a witness at these hearings.

In particular the minister of highways informed me that the affidavits in his possession allege that this so-called high ranking Liberal offered one Clyde Thornton a large sum of money—the amount he mentioned I recall was $50,000 to $100,000—to help "get" the minister of highways.

At the time Mr. Gagliardi refused to give me the name of the high ranking Liberal involved, he refused my request to see the affidavits.

Today I serve notice, Mr. Chairman, that I intend to ask that these alleged affidavits be tabled immediately and that this committee request the minister of highways to produce the evidence he claims to have.

Further, I wish to inform members of this committee that I wrote to the minister the same day as our conversation and in my letter I advised the minister that I regarded it as his duty to place the material which he possesses in the hands of the proper authorities. The minister has returned my letter, a copy of which I have available for the committee.

He appended a note: "Ray, I would appreciate you destroying this note and forget I ever talked to you. Thanks kindly, Phil."

It seems apparent that he has no intention of producing the alleged affidavits at this time.

It is not my purpose to speculate as to the minister of highways' motives in making this approach to me.

Suffice it to say that this conversation took place.

Mr. Chairman I suggest that the minister be called before the committee at once and that the evidence to which he referred be made available to the committee. Failing such action this committee must believe report to the House its recommendations, that the matters under investigation be referred forthwith to a supreme court judge for a full judicial inquiry.

Untenable Position

I feel that by his action the minister has placed me in a totally untenable position.

Had I not reported these events to the committee today an implication could be drawn at some future time that during these hearings I was influenced to act in a manner prejudicial to my function as an unbiased and objective judge and juror in order to protect an unnamed alleged high ranking Liberal.

If there has been any wrong doing, the political affiliation of the wrongdoers is of no consequence to me.

As leader of the Liberal party in B.C. I suggest that the minister produce the evidence he claims to have and that no one be shielded; that no one be protected.

I feel strongly that the minister by his actions has in effect involved me in a partisan political way in the handling of the public business by this committee.

I believe that every member of the committee must now realize the dangers inherent in such an investigation being conducted by legislative rather than by judicial authorities.

In reaching my decision to disclose this information to the committee before the hearings continue I have done so without malice.

An Accomplice

It is my conviction that failure to do so would have made me an accomplice and would have enlarged the investigation to a point where not only the integrity of the government and the legislature of this province, but our parliamentary system, would be on trial.

If this committee is not prepared to support me in this view that all relevant facts must now be brought into the open, I will feel compelled to withdraw as a member. Let the evidence be brought in. Let it be judged by the chips.

Therefore, I move, Mr. Chairman, that this committee:

1. Request the minister of highways to produce the aforementioned affidavits and;
2. That the committee, if these documents are not recovered, report to the House its recommendation that the entire inquiry be referred to a judge of the Supreme Court for a full judicial inquiry.

SOVIET career diplomat Ivan Shipenko, 45, arrived in Ottawa Saturday to take up his new post as ambassador to Canada and reported that the Canadian political situation is being watched with high interest in Moscow.

CLEANSE SELVES

Balinese Fear Sins Ired Volcano

By KARSTAN PRAGER

KLUNGKUNG, Bali (AP) — Pious Balinese flocked to the white beaches here today to cleanse themselves of the sins they fear may have angered the gods of the Agung volcano, which erupted last week, killing almost 1,500 persons.

They carried small house temples and the Hindu trinity to the shore and offered sacrifices. Then they entered the South Pacific to wash away their sins.

The cleansing festival takes place every 100 years. The volcano erupted in the middle of it, increasing the fervor of devotees who believe that natural disasters will occur if they fail to purify themselves. There were more than 200 injured and 65,000 left homeless in the disaster area, once lush and green, which now is a vast desert of ash and mud.

The official death toll was 1,478. It is feared this will rise when buried villages are excavated.

This seaside village has become one of the most important rescue centres. Military units, police, Red Cross and government officials face a gigantic task in providing food and shelter.

They begged for air transport to evacuate the injured and homeless and were shocked when two Indonesian Air Force transports flew in 200 delegates to the 12th annual Pacific Area Travel Association conference for a sightseeing tour. Tours were banned around Mt. Agung.

AID ARRIVES SLOWLY

Communications with Indonesia's capital, Jakarta, are primitive and aid is slow in filtering in. Even in Bali's capital, Denpasar, 20 miles away, most people did not know what had happened here. They did not appear too concerned.

Emergency rice shipments are expected some time this week, but there is no indication when requested helicopters and small coastal vessels for relief work will arrive.

Molten lava and ash, in addition, whole areas were dead. The only signs of life at the northeast town of Subagan were vultures.

some hunting for food," said the mother.

"After all, to survive in those conditions for seven weeks is quite a feat."

Of her daughter, Mrs. Klaben added:

"She always had the courage and self-reliance to take care of herself in any crisis. I knew that if there was any chance at all, she would come out alive. And she had that chance."

LIKE REGAINING LIFE

Mrs. Klaben said the news of her daughter apparently being spotted alive "was the best present I ever received in my lifetime. There wouldn't have been a better gift. I feel as if I've regained my own life." She sighed happily and went on:

"I tell you, that girl of mine, she is really something. She always had a taste for adventure in her. She wanted to see things. To see something of life and the world before settling down. And she managed to do it. Marriage was not in her mind at all."

Mrs. Klaben said her daughter studied engineering before taking the job in Alaska about five months ago and was returning home to complete her degree. Mrs. Klaben has two other daughters and four sons.

Marine-Alpine Trail Called Tourist Lure

A city alderman and retired wing commander today urged the development of a marine-alpine trail, claiming it would attract thousands of visitors to Vancouver Island.

Commenting on the increased interest in walking and outdoor life, Ald. Geoff Edgelow and Wing Cmdr. Russ Jeffs, said "walking and hiking" could well become the island's biggest attraction within a few years.

Both said the impact on business would be tremendous.

Ald. Edgelow, who has just returned from a trip to California, said the population of the southern state is 17,000,000.

BIG POTENTIAL

"This is nearly the population of Canada," he said. "The potential is tremendous. There are tens of thousands interested in wilderness trails."

They advocated the re-development of the west coast trail, starting from Jordan River, with a stopover at Port Renfrew, and ending at Bamfield.

The other trail would start from Alberni, and would take in the Della Falls route, Strathcona Park, ending at Campbell River or Courtenay.

TWO SURVIVE SHOT ON STREET BY SOLDIER

Businessman Killed in Katanga

CP from Reuters-AP

ELISABETHVILLE—A middle-aged Jewish businessman was shot and killed today in the main street of this Katanga province capital.

Crowds of passers-by saw the man, identified as Simon Asher, father of three children, die from a bullet fired by a soldier of the central Congolese army.

Witnesses said Asher was shot after he had walked along the veranda of the former National Bank building which has been guarded by central government troops since the Katanga province ended its secession attempt.

Witnesses said the shooting came after a soldier ordered Asher off the veranda, which is only one step higher than the pavement.

SOLDIER SHOT HIM

When Asher walked on the soldier shot him. Local businessmen said Asher was slightly deaf and might not have heard the soldier. Feeling ran high here. More than 100 Jewish businessmen were protesting to the central Congolese government against the shooting. UN and police officials began an investigation. Congolese and European-owned stores are closed during the afternoon in Ethiopian troops stayed on duty at the bank.

Dief Aims Barbs At Americans

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

PINCHER CREEK, Alta.—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Saturday hit out at the United States in his most pointed American criticism so far in the election campaign.

He did not mention the U.S. by name, but his meaning was clear. Before an overflow audience of some 1,500 he said:

"When some nations start pointing out to us what we should do, let me tell you this, Canada was in both wars a long time before some other nations were. Let that be clear."

"Let it also be clear that in the last war for a period of some fifteen or eighteen months freedom was in the custody of the people of the British Commonwealth. Let that be clear, too."

"We don't need any lessons as to what Canada should do after that record of service in two world wars. We are protecting and preserving our defences and maintaining our responsibilities."

Mr. Diefenbaker's speech in this cattle and natural gas town—he was speaking after a day of whistle-stopping through Alberta—also contained for the first time in the campaign a direct mention of former defence minister Douglas Harkness who quit the cabinet in a split with the Prime Minister over nuclear policy.

Mr. Diefenbaker's "we were in both wars" statement was part of a general defence of his nuclear policy, which quoted the departed minister as supporting the Prime Minister's point of view.

In destroying whole villages and miles of countryside, wiped out roads and bridges. This made evacuation difficult.

On November 29 Mr. Diefenbaker said, the "former minister of national defence" had said there existed no commitments which Canada had not fulfilled.

"At no time was there any such commitment as today is being spoken of," the Prime Minister insisted. He was referring to claims by U.S. authorities and by the Liberal opposition that Canada is committed to arm her NATO and NORAD forces with nuclear warheads.

Who Will Get Tory Fallout?

This is one of a series of studies of the Canadian general election. It is compiled by a Montreal-born social scientist and is sponsored jointly by The Montreal Star and the University of Rochester. This is part two of a survey of B.C.

By S. PETER REGENSTREIF
(Copyright 1963)

VANCOUVER — The question of which party, the Liberals or the NDP, will benefit most from Conservative defections in British Columbia is an intriguing one.

The nuclear question aside, it seems as if the answer revolves around income considerations.

As pointed out incessantly, the Liberals, on grounds of the need for stable government and sound fiscal management, are murdering the Tories in the upper middle and upper income sectors of the electorate right across the country.

With the rest of the public the NDP just slightly more than holds its own.

To those who are ideologically committed to the notion that Conservatives cannot jump two steps to the "left" and vote for the NDP over the Liberals when they desert their party, this assessment of the possible distribution of middle and lower income Tory breakaway may appear preposterous.

Things have changed in this country since John Diefenbaker came on the scene. While the public still consciously conceives of the Conservatives as the party of the rich, this conscious perception is often denied at the ballot box.

Economic

Many of those same lower middle and lower income people who used to be automatically considered as part of Liberal support voted Conservative (or more correctly, Diefenbaker) in 1958 and 1962 and may vote NDP as opposed to Liberal in B.C. in 1963. The economic motivation is paramount here.

The wife of a hospital orderly described her reasons for voting New Party as follows: "I think they have the most progressive ideas. Since my husband works very hard for his living—that is, money does not come very easily—well, they're the best. They're speaking to us, in other words."

A particularly acute 80-year-old Tory widow put it this way and thus explained the process: "Diefenbaker should really be with the CCF the way he's with the 'common people' all the time. Those Bay Streeters know that."

That the Conservatives are in disarray here is underlined by evidence of possible non-voting on the part of many of their traditional supporters, especially the elderly. Because of the collapse of the government and rumors of a "palace revolt" many cannot bring themselves to vote for their party and would rather stay home than support the enemy on April 8.

Won't Vote

A disgusted Victoria Tory sighed: "They talk a lot and they don't do anything about it. Look at how they've been running one another down. I don't think I'm voting. At my age, I figure I'll let the young people do it. I've had my time."

Almost as devastating to Conservative hopes is the response of those planning to stay with the party on election day. They are articulating their intentions in terms of candidate loyalty. A Quadra housewife is staying with External Affairs Howard Green and rationalized her choice:

"If you have a good man, no matter what political party he belongs to, you have something to hang on to."

In the rural areas, the Socreds are benefiting to some extent. How much it is difficult to state because not enough back-country regions could be visited.

These are the patterns. What do they mean in terms of seats? Of the 10 NDP seats it appears as if Vancouver-Burrard won by Tom Berger over Liberal Ron Bassford by 94 votes in 1962 is in doubt. The rest appear safe. The Liberals will hold their four.

All the rest are up for grabs! Since it seems as if the New Party took all the ones they could take from the Tories last time, only Social Credit is vulnerable to them. The Liberals can hurt Tories, Social Credit who hold two, and NDP although in the case of the New Party, this may be doubtful.

Space limitations do not permit a consideration of all these marginal seats and only the better-known contests can be specifically mentioned.

Certain Gain

Victoria is an almost certain Liberal gain in spite of the party's difficulties over a candidate. Along with the three other parties, the Grits now find themselves confronted with an independent, Foster Isherwood, who was their official nominee last June. They have 216 votes to make up on the Conservative who ditched their sitting member and nominated a newcomer in his place.

Isherwood may damage the Liberals somewhat but every respondent of a sample of 14 expressed his vote intentions in terms of party, not candidate. So it appears as if the situation is not as difficult as it might seem on the surface.

Quadra can fall to the Liberals because of the upper middle and upper income breakdown in Tory ranks and because of the nuclear issue which is driving some Conservatives into the ranks of the NDP. If the New Party had a more moderate candidate than Dorothy Steeves, the NDP would do the trick for the Liberals, but she is so far "left" she makes Colin Cameron look like a Bay Street Tory, and there may be some reluctance on the part of Green supporters to take the plunge.

Young Blood

Aside from the normal switch in Liberal favor, there is also a feeling that as one middle-aged traditional Conservative put it: "May be young blood is needed although Mr. Green has been a good worker. A man of principle. The way things are going if we get some younger men, well... I guess I may swing for Deachman (the Liberal candidate)." This attitude cuts across class lines and, along with the non-voting, may result in ending the 37-year career of the venerable Tory warhorse.

With Davie Fulton no longer in Kamloops, this seat is also a prime Grit prospect.

CASE for nuclear arms was argued in pulp of St. James United Church, Montreal, Sunday night by John Turner, member of last Parliament for Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George. Opposing stand was taken by Prof. G. G. Gifford, NDP candidate for Montreal-Notre-Dame-de-Grace. They were invited to speak by the minister, who explained "as Christians, we cannot dodge the issues of the day."

Bad Weather Dogs Douglas' Campaign

CRESTON, B.C. (CP)—New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas Saturday night made a 700-mile detour to reach this East Kootenay farming centre for a meeting in support of local candidate William Mundy.

Mr. Douglas was aboard a plane from Vancouver which was unable to land at nearby Cranbrook because of weather conditions and went on to Calgary. Mr. Douglas arrived at the meeting late after a 360-mile drive from Calgary.

He outlined a three-point program for economic development, explained the NDP stand on nuclear arms, and described the proposed Columbia River treaty as "a sellout of Canada and B.C."

The economic program would start with massive expenditure of what he described as "social capital" at all levels of government. A national building program would get priority and unemployment would be reduced to three per cent of the working force.

The additional labor would increase national productivity by $4,000,000,000, Mr. Douglas said.

Second item in the program was the direction of capital by a national development fund and national investment board. This would ensure expansion at a stable economic level.

Finally, the party would increase purchasing power to remedy the present situation in which factories are producing more than can be sold by

HALIBUT FLEET WAITS ON CANADA

Japanese Hold Back

AMERICANS ANGERED

SEATTLE (AP)—A storm-battered halibut fleet sailed Saturday from Sand Point, Alaska, to the Bering Sea with fishermen expressing anger and concern at the prospect of Japanese competition.

The U.S. and Canadian fishermen took to sea as President Kennedy endorsed a proposed agreement under which the Japanese would be permitted to fish for halibut.

E. M. Telleston, captain of the Pied Piper, was quoted as saying at Sand Point:

"If Japan is permitted to penetrate the eastern Bering Sea, this will be the ruin of our industry. The Japanese break the rules every day."

TOKYO (AP)—The Fishery Agency today cabled to Japanese fishing fleets in the east Bering Sea to refrain from catching halibut until Canada approves the Japanese-U.S.-Canadian fishery agreement.

The cable was radioed because the Canadian government's approval of the agreement had not been obtained by midnight Sunday when the halibut season opened.

The governments of Japan and the United States have approved the recommendations by the three-nation International Pacific Fishery Commission under which the Japanese halibut fishing in the area was permitted.

An approval by the Canadian government only stands before the recommendations can become effective.

A high official of the Japanese agency earlier said about 70 Japanese fishing boats are in the east Bering Sea ready to catch halibut as soon as the agreement goes into effect.

These fishing fleets now are limited to catching fish other than halibut not banned under the agreement until the Canadian approval is obtained.

Couple Killed

GOLDEN, B.C. (CP)—The bodies of Elmer W. Shannon, 31, and his wife, Alice, 30, were found Sunday in the front seat of their car submerged in a slough. Police said it appeared the couple's car left a small bridge and plunged into five feet of water. They had four children ranging in age from two to eight.

'DON'T SIGN' DIF URGED

VANCOUVER (CP)—The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) Sunday night sent wires urging the federal government not to sign a new fisheries treaty which would permit Japanese fishermen to fish off the Queen Charlotte Islands and the eastern Bering Sea.

At its annual convention here, the union said in telegrams to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, External Affairs Minister Green and Fisheries Minister McLean that British Columbia's $75,000,000-a-year fishing industry would be ruined.

Mayor 'Fells' Last Pole

Mayor R. B. Wilson will take a cut at the last of some 200 power poles removed from the downtown area at a ceremony Tuesday at 1:45 p.m.

He will officiate, along with Victoria B.C. Hydro manager M. C. Trueman, when the pole at the corner of Johnson and Blanshard is taken down.

Former mayor P. B. Scurrah and Mr. Trueman combined to cut the first pole Dec. 28, 1961.

Tuesday's ceremony will mark the end of the underground wiring program for the 30-block area bounded by Government, Belleville, Douglas and Herald Streets that began in November, 1956, and cost some $3,300,000.

The Desperate Man

THE RECENT SPEECHES OF Mr. Diefenbaker show an increasing desperation. Only a very desperate man could say, for example, that the Liberal Party caused the dollar crisis of last June. The government, we are asked to believe, had nothing to do with it—the government which controlled national policy, which maintained its rake's progress of uninterrupted deficits and, with the Fleming budget of last spring, broke foreign confidence.

After this preposterous charge against the opposition, the Prime Minister solemnly insists that he always tells the truth.

The other so-called truth mentioned in his speeches every night is that the Liberal Party obstructed his whole legislative program in the last Parliament. What are the facts?

A national election was held on June 18. Mr. Diefenbaker then promised drastic reforms and "long-term" economic remedies to cure the nation's problems as revealed by the dollar crisis which he denied until the polls closed. But he did not call Parliament until September 27.

Then he announced, in the speech from the Throne, 34 items of proposed legislation. Though Parliament sat (with a long, unnecessary Christmas recess) until February 6, only 8 of these items were enacted into law. Most of the more important Throne speech plans either were not introduced at all or were not opened to debate.

The Throne speech promised, among other things, the abolition of parliamentary closure; contributory old-age pensions; repatriation of the constitution from Britain to Canada; a national power grid; unemployment insurance reform; and a national medical research council.

None of these plans was pressed in Parliament. The government's major policies, however, were to be introduced in a new budget. It was to contain the long-awaited economic remedies.

Mr. Diefenbaker had seven months, between July and the first days of February to devise this budget but he never brought it to Parliament. All this time he knew that if he introduced a budget the opposition would have agreed to set all other business aside and consider the government's new financial and economic policies. It would not dare do otherwise.

In short, Mr. Diefenbaker had every opportunity to enact his policies if he had any. The truth clearly is that he had none on which his warring cabinet could agree. He has none of a fundamental sort now. Or if he has, none has been revealed in the election campaign.

Yet the opposition is solely to blame for everything! It will require a highly imaginative electorate to grasp the truth, Diefenbaker version.

Squeezing Life Out of Texts

VICTORIA HAS ESCAPED A book burning controversy for nine years but the practice in modified form continues elsewhere on the continent.

In Texas pressure groups are making some headway in "discouraging" the use of textbooks which speak favorably of income tax, federal subsidies to farms and schools, the TVA, Social Security, unemployment compensation, labor unions, the United Nations, racial integration and even the United States Supreme Court.

From this development has sprung a new and unhappy problem. Where the use of such books is discouraged, publishers face serious loss. In consequence they develop an inclination to print only inoffensive, frequently flabby texts, and decline to risk the economic consequences of producing better books which could be crushed by the weight of pressure groups.

This is a situation apart entirely from the attack launched elsewhere against the sale of trash and pornography by fast-money publishers who never before enjoyed so easy an access into so lucrative a market because the courts, anxious to preserve the freedom of the printed word, understandably shy away from censorship.

The textbook pressure play should concern all liberally-minded people since what is happening in Texas could happen here. It hasn't to date for two very good reasons.

In British Columbia the authorities, recognizing the fact that the law requires children to go to school, avoid as far as possible inclusion in textbooks of material which does violence to the principles of the children and their parents. Such a course can be followed by the application of basic common sense.

That policy works here with reasonable success. There are, of course, periodic complaints. These complaints are treated with consideration and action is taken on them on a basis of unbiased analysis of the material to which a complainant objects. Where necessary, or desirable, amendment is made.

But if the method has been successful in recent years, the technique of the pressure groups in Texas should be noted, if only as a warning of what can be done by determined, often self-interested, people to censor textbooks without calling the process censorship.

Keeping the Old Trees

VICTORIANS WITH SINCERE appreciation for the stately graciousness of fine old trees will applaud the city parks committee's decision to save them wherever they are appropriately situated in boulevards.

For some years now Victoria has followed a program of replacing the large growth with smaller, flowering varieties—and there is unquestionably a place for the latter, decorative type—in order to avoid clogged drains, heaving sidewalks and restricted street lighting.

The present council has taken other matters into consideration—and very wisely. By keeping some of the big trees the city avoids too formalized a pattern, preserves excellent shade in summer and respects the wishes of many residents. In cases where small trees have been planted in close proximity to big ones, the error should be corrected by replanting the small ones elsewhere.

If, in addition to keeping the large trees, Victoria can persuade the power authorities to lay lines underground, the attractiveness of the capital will be even further enhanced.

Thinking Big

MR. CAQUETTE, THE DEPUTY Social Credit leader, says he believes the Liberal Party is planning to injure him in a traffic accident so as to hamper his election campaign.

Only two comments come to mind. First, while this allegation is weird by any standards, it isn't much crazier than some of the other things Mr. Caquette claims in his speeches. Secondly, anybody who believes the Social Credit theory would believe anything.

Mr. Imlach's Good Idea

MR. "PUNCH" IMLACH, MANAGER-coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs, speaks for a fair number of Canadians when he says he's "sick and tired" of hearing from European hockey teams about "how good they are and about the fact that they no longer consider Canada as a threat in the world hockey championship."

Mr. Imlach offers to take his high-flying National Leaguers on a tour of Europe, playing the type of hockey familiar in the N.H.L. against European teams. For this he would need transportation and $50,000.

It might be a good investment in the repurchase of Canadian status abroad. The Europeans—the Russians, Swedes and Czechs—have become outstanding exponents of their type of European hockey. They should have an opportunity to see the game as it is played by some of the best in the business in the land where the game was made.

Mr. Imlach could also carry to the Europeans a simple truth about Canadian hockey which has apparently not occurred to clubs on the other side of the Atlantic. The fact is that most top-notch Canadian hockey players believe that they can make more money more honestly by turning professional than by remaining amateur—hence, the best are in the official pro ranks in this country.

"...I do not now, nor ever have, believed in certain socialistic forms of medicare as advocated by any Canadian political party...and was appalled by the implementation of such medicare in a Canadian western province in the year 1962, so help me..."

THE BACKWARD LOOK

And in Reply We Beg to Inform You

By B. A. TOBIN

PERHAPS no field of literature has received more attention in recent years than that of the business letter. Although tradition dies hard in this area of human endeavor, as in others, there has been a widespread effort to change the style and atmosphere of business correspondence and make it well, not too businesslike. For "businesslike" when applied to letters had come to mean formality, stiffness, and perfection of the cliché.

Tobin

Yours of the 3rd inst. received and contents noted. "In reply we beg to state..." "Our immediate attention..." "Your shipment will go forward..." "In hope that we may serve you further..." It was pretty awful stuff. Most readers of such letters no doubt skipped the words entirely, knowing what they would be, and took note only of the figures, which had a better chance of changing from letter to letter.

It went on for several generations.

a tribute to the conservatism of the business world, if nothing else. But suddenly somebody got the idea that his letter didn't have to read that way. Almost overnight a new style began to creep in. In fact, it hurtled in and overleapt itself.

So that now, instead of being greeted with "Your esteemed favor of 27th ult. to hand for which we thank you..." you might easily unfold a sheet of notepaper to read: "Hi there! We dare you to read this..."

Once the dam was broken, of course, the flood began. Traditional reserve was abandoned by many a firm, and when the advertising folk got hold of it, it was every reader for himself.

Getting the reader's attention was the primary objective, keeping it was the only other aim. Anything that would do this was acceptable. All kinds of letters began with "Hey!" or, simply, "Read this!"

It wasn't all at full cry, though. There were other gimmicks, and they're still in use. "You have been selected to receive our..." "Your name has been given to us as that of a leader in your community and we..." "This is addressed only to intelligent, reasonable..." Every householder soon became familiar with them. The straight business letter, firm to firm, didn't behave quite so spectacularly, but it became much more human. Experts urged businessmen to write naturally, easily and comfortably, saying only what they wanted to say, and avoiding the outworn forms made almost meaningless by repetition. Nowadays, of course, you can expect almost anything.

The old business style was a hold-over from the Victorian age with its formality, labored politeness and ponderous rightness. It was odd that business, supposed to be progressive, hung on to this outmoded form long after almost every other human pursuit had adopted twentieth-century patterns.

Even the Bible was being put into modern English by the time business got around to modernizing its vocabulary. And it may be noted that banks in many cases still cling to gothic arches, Greek columns and the other marks of classical opulence while religion is housed more and more often in twentieth-century architecture.

It seems to prove something, if you could just figure it out.

Teeth Without Bite

Do you, or any of your readers know what false teeth were made of before the present plastic-like composition?

I read of a man making himself a set with teeth from a wild animal and think they must have been better than my muffle gums. I can bite better without, though I look a sight. Trying them against the palm of my hand I find they have no bite, no sharp edges, are a blunt kind of plastic. These don't make bad bridgework, but are worse than useless for masticating.

Trying the points of a cheap 25-cent pair of scissors against my hand, I realize that if bridgework were made of composition, inset with steel, the teeth could be enamelled white where they show. Then one's digestion would not be ruined—and the price!

Dentist's work is hard and not healthy, but the "spread" on false teeth often buys them nothing but an outside, unwieldy, ostentatious car, in which they drive, unconditioned by exercise until their health, like that of their victims, is ruined. They, too, become a burden on our taxpayers, in our overcrowded hospitals. Hoping that public opinion may improve these conditions.

GEORGINA HORNER HARRISON. 6380 Old West Rd., RR 7, Victoria.

Columbia Flood Control

Few people seem to be aware that the most monstrous feature of the Columbia River Treaty is the many, scattered, inconsistently drafted provisions about U.S. seasonal flood control. Even Mr. Fulton who negotiated the treaty has made statements indicating that he himself does not understand the rights which are given to the United States. These are:

1.—U.S. can designate an entity especially and exclusively to implement flood control provisions. This can be—and is expected by Americans to be—the third entity viz the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers. (The two administrative entities are expected to be U.S. Bonneville Power Authority and B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.)

2.—This third entity, the corps, will have authority over-riding that of the administrative entities and the four-man board, to issue arbitrary orders for regulation of Canadian storages. It need not justify its orders to anybody. Canada has no effective appeal from such orders. It's orders must be obeyed by Canada on pain of breaching the treaty.

3.—The right of this entity to regulate operations of Canadian storages is perpetual; it cannot be terminated when the rest of the treaty terminates.

4.—The right applies not only to High Arrow and Duncan Lake storages and to 80,000 acre feet of Mica storage, but to the whole of Mica and to any and every additional storage of water resource development which Canada may ever do on its part of the Columbia.

5.—The right can be asserted not only over each and every Canadian project but asserted to an unlimited extent. Although limitation of flow at the Dalles in U.S. to not more than 800,000 cubic feet per second was accepted as reasonable by both sides in the International Joint Commission (in which case the character of the special U.S. entity would not be so objectionable), this treaty gives the U.S. entity right to demand unlimited flood protection.

Never before in the history of the International Joint Commission was one country given such extensive and absolute control over use of a waterway in the other country.

All that is necessary for U.S. flood protection is that there be, in the treaty, definite, specific statement of a particular limit of flow at or below the Dalles in U.S. IJC agreed that the two administrative entities work out the ways to effect this definite curtailment equitably with referral of disputes to the "policing" board of four engineers (one for B.C. one for Ottawa and a balancing two for U.S.).

It is monstrous that, in a matter involving a big and a little country, the big country should be able to install a military agency to over-ride all other entities and agencies representing both countries, and with power legally to make and implement demands for unlimited benefits for the big country. If U.S. does not intend to exercise these rights, why have them in the treaty?

Americans have been arguing that no inequitable use of the rights is intended or anticipated, and that all foreseeable flood protection needs of the U.S. can be met by regulation of all of High Arrow, all of Duncan Lake, and—in some emergencies—80,000 acre feet of Mica. Why then should unlimited flood protection be brought in? Why should all future projects done by Canada be exposed to unspecified exploitation for undefined aims of the U.S. forever?

LONDON:

Nuclear Attitudes

By RICHARD PURSER

TO summarize the principal national attitudes toward nuclear defence:

(1) France—Determined to see Europe under French leadership as an equal ally of the United States. To carry equal weight with the U.S. in later dealings with the Communist world, independence in defence is essential. The lead in independent defence must come from France, since Britain plans to lean heavily on the United States for its nuclear weapons delivery systems and Germany is barred from possessing its own nuclear weapons. European participation in NATO nuclear force schemes is pointless as supply and control ultimately rest in U.S. hands.

(2) Britain—Opposed to French or continental independent deterrent, but wants to keep at least the appearance of its own, partly for internal political reasons. Willing to contribute own nuclear forces to NATO, but wants right of withdrawal. Sees no illogic in obtaining key parts from U.S. while maintaining right to use own deterrent in situations unsupported by U.S.

Labor party opposition opposed to independent and NATO deterrents, favors Western nuclear power in U.S. hands with NATO powers earning strong role in U.S. planning by strengthening own conventional defences.

(3) Germany—Caught in forward position with problems of Berlin, internal division and post-war borders, but unable to have own nuclear weapons. Susceptible to Gaullist views—with German leadership eventually substituted for French—but doubts French deterrent ever leading to anything that can keep Europe secure without the U.S. In view of delicate position, wants as much as possible in use of Western deterrent to assure own interests kept in allies' minds. Suspicious of moves to keep any European outbreak from escalating, because conventional war would be fought on own soil. Willing to consider any form of participating in nuclear decisions, even if form must be at first unsatisfactory.

(4) United States—Opposed to division of deterrent, but trying to come to terms with rising assertiveness of Europe. Proposing NATO nuclear force which would give Europe a say—enough, it is hoped, to stifle British and French pretensions to independence—without enabling Europe itself to plunge the U.S. into the nuclear phase of war. Favors stronger allied conventional contribution.

Latest Move

The purpose of the latest U.S. move is as much to deter its European allies as to deter Russia. Britain dislikes the idea of a multilateral, non-withdrawable, cost-shared NATO fleet of missile-launching surface ships, but it realizes it cannot very well keep out if Germany and Italy join with the U.S. (Lack of this realization is a hole in Labor party policy; Labor is too ready to assume that Europe will follow its own lead in steering toward conventional rather than nuclear forces.)

There is good reason to believe that Britain is underestimating the military value of the U.S. proposal. A widely dispersed fleet of 25 ships carrying 200 missiles of 2,500-mile range, added to the present supersonic bombers, land-based missiles, and Polaris submarines, will provide further diversity and further harass Soviet efforts to devise counter-defences. The U.S. may come to be increasingly sold on the military as well as political usefulness of its idea.

With motives of various Western nations conflicting as they do, the future must remain obscure. The most immediate cloud is Clause Six of the Nassau agreement.

The prime minister suggested and the president agreed, that for the immediate future a start could be made by subscribing to NATO some part of the forces already in existence. This could include allocations from United States strategic forces, from United Kingdom bomber command, and from tactical forces now held in Europe. Such forces would be assigned as part of NATO nuclear force and targeted in accordance with NATO plans.

This is a British inspiration. Its advantage, as described publicly, is that it can be brought into being quickly and give Europeans an early feeling of being on the inside of nuclear strategy. Other advantages, less publicly expressed, are that the British contribution could be withdrawn and that the whole force, based on nearly obsolete manned aircraft, would have to be phased out at about the same time as Britain's hoped-for Polaris submarines are coming in.

American Control

As Britain's V-bombers are already targeted in co-ordination with Strategic Air Command, there would be little difference to Britain. The warheads carried by non-British sections of the force would be under American control, even though the planes be Greek, German or Italian. Political problems would arise with the Scandinavian countries, which have tactical air forces but are opposed to direct participation in nuclear strategy, and with Canada for the same reason if the Diefenbaker government should be re-elected.

The Americans see this type of force as a much more immediate stopgap before a NATO sea-based force is formed. The British believe the U.S. is trying to wrap up a packaged version of its own concept of the Clause Six force in time for the usual rubber-stamping by NATO's May ministerial meeting in Ottawa. This would put the force under the present (i.e., American) command structure. Britain is pressing for a longer term, more European approach which could not likely be settled that quickly.

Assessments of the Atlantic nuclear policy situation show no easy way out. However the various concepts of multilateral, multinational and indivisible deterrent are juggled, the periods of time needed to bring agreements into effect allow plenty of opportunity for political and technological changes to render them obsolete.

The only truth that can arise out of the present confusion is that for the West nothing can replace the size, variety and adaptability of the United States nuclear deterrent. Any other attitude is based on political rather than strategic considerations, and this is no time to divide Western strategy.

The Strain of Life

Today, many of us physicians, especially in America, tend to blame certain troubles, such as, coronary heart disease, on the strains and stresses of modern business life. But some thoughtful physicians remind us that even the Greeks and the Romans at times complained bitterly about the unhealthy effects of "the strains of modern life." In fact, in the old days, when a man had no rights that he could count on; when he might be thrown in jail or executed without a trial, the strains of life may have been even greater than they are today.

Alvarez

At a recent meeting of the Student American Medical Association, Dr. Butterworth remarked that, "If more of us were concerned with the art of living and fewer with the quest for longevity, we might live more happily and productively, and perhaps longer, too."

At the meeting, Dr. Willis J. Yotts thought that the main causes of heart disease are over-eating, lack of exercise, overweight, and a failure to pick the right ancestors. Dr. Potts' one bit of advice, which he follows himself, and gives to many high-pressure executives in business, is to take a little nap after lunch.

My old friend, Dr. William J. Mayo, always used to take a brief nap after luncheon, and sometimes one before supper. I often take one after lunch, and then it gives me great energy for the work of the afternoon and evening.

At the meeting, Dr. Irvine H. Page, director of research at the Cleveland-Clinic Foundation, said, "My heart needs no special protection against the stress of modern living," and he lives strenuously. Perhaps one reason why he gets along so well is that he is always in such a good humor, with a merry twinkle in his eye.

Dr. George W. Calver, the physician who takes care of the United States senators and representatives, advises them to "practice the hygiene of a quiet mind."

In these days when we doctors keep handing out tranquilizers to almost everyone, I am amused when a wife says to me that she would rather have me put a fire-cracker under her quiet husband than to give him a bottle of sedative pills.

Every housewife ought to know that she should never put pink (undercooked) pork on her family's table; and every hog-raiser should know that he must not feed his pigs uncooked food. Unfortunately, as the editor of the Journal of the AMA recently said, in spite of many warnings, trichinae (the tiny worms found in the meat of some hogs) keep getting into the bodies of quite a few men and women and children.

Commonly, in man the disease is not recognized for what it is because it produces queer symptoms that suggest an infection with some germ. Often, when the infestation is a mild one, it produces so few symptoms that the person may not even consult a physician. If many worms enter the person's body, the first symptom may be diarrhea, which appears within 24 hours after the eating of the infested pork. After this can come fever, swelling of the eyelids, soreness and pain in several muscles, and perhaps a skin rash.

Soon in the blood there appear many white blood cells called eosinophiles, because they stain red with a dye called eosin. The coming of these cells will suggest the presence of trichinosis. A skin test may be used, and in some cases, the tiny worms may be seen with the microscope in a specimen of blood.

Proper smoking of pork and thorough cooking will destroy the worms. Unfortunately, no method of inspection in slaughterhouses will detect the infected carcasses. When pathologists (students of disease in dead bodies) make a careful search for trichinae in the muscles of a hundred persons, they find a surprisingly large number containing a few of the worms. In most cases, these worms had probably never been present in numbers large enough to cause trouble.

The wise housewife will always cook pork for at least one-half hour per pound. Pork sausages should also be well cooked.

French Veto of Britain Slows ECM

By NELS SLIS

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Common Market has been slowing down since the French veto of British membership. West Europeans interested in the market's future are looking for ways to get it going again.

The Common Market's own executive commission, a group of nine top European economists, has been breaking new ground to try to build a truly supranational organization. The importance of its pioneering job may be fading.

The Common Market has been rousing success for its six members: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. Its production has been increasing at twice the rate of the United States. Trade, real wages and consumption have been rising fast.

But Britain's failure to get in has been a blow. Nothing has gone right since. A new agreement with 18 African countries, mostly former French colonies, has been held up. The attempt to get together on grain prices, a basic item in anybody's economy, is also being delayed.

Resentment of the other five members against the French veto has played an important part in holding up progress.

People concerned with pushing European unity, notably the top officials of the Common Market, are showing signs of worry that the organization is losing its momentum. Some of them could be important men in their home countries. They would be foolish to stay abroad the Common Market if it turns into a mere technical organization.

DISCUSS PACKAGE DEAL
One idea being discussed is a package deal to promote at the same time the interests of the French farmer and the industries of the five other countries.

The French are eager to get a common farm policy set up, but the six member states. On union's demand for a 42-hour week and the issue is expected to go to arbitration. Vancouver element in French politics, ver firemen now work a 48-hour week. The city said a and profitable sales inside the 42-hour week would cost an extra $600,000 a year.

Diseases Increase
VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver health department officials warn of a sharp increase in chicken pox and whooping cough cases in the metropolitan area. For the first two months of this year, chicken pox was up 765 cases from 413 and whooping cough to 65 cases from three at this time last year.

For any of these deals to be made, the French will have to go along. In President de Gaulle's mood these days, they are unlikely to do so unless they can get what they want for the French farmer from their Common Market partners.

Daffs Have 'Extra Something'

The long spring this year is resulting in exceptionally well developed daffodil blooms. They are remaining in good condition too, for growth is slow but continuous during these sapling days of early spring.

It is not only size of bloom that we are noting, but also what we rather vaguely refer to as texture, or substance.

This year the daffodil flowers seem to have that extra something in their texture which makes them a joy to behold.

They are gay and sturdy, with a lilt like a Mozart symphony.

If you like daffodils yet lack any of distinction in your own garden, now is the time to look around for a few of the better named varieties which appeal to you.

At the bulb-nurseries you will find the best of the older kinds and many of the new introductions. You will find the pure white daffodils, pink daffodils and even the so-called green daffodils. And if you hear them all classed as narcissi, don't let that worry you, for that is the correct generic name.

Some will win your heart and others may leave you cold but seeing many different colors and forms will add immeasurably to your gardening knowledge.

There is little foundation for the idea that daffodils are fleeting. The individual blooms will last for as long as five weeks in the garden.

By planting even three varieties a period of two months continuous flowering can be achieved.

If miniature types are also chosen, the daffodil season in your own garden may extend from late January through into May.

Clothing Firm
Staff Wins
5-Cent Boost

Western Canada's oldest clothing factory has signed an agreement with its 20 employees to provide a basic wage of $1.10 an hour—five cents up from the previous rate.

The new contract with Victoria's Hall and Co. was announced by Chris. Trower, business representative for Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, who said he hopes soon to name a single individual as sole arbitrator for all disputes in the B.C. clothing industry.

THIRD FIRM
The mutually agreeable arbitrator clause was one of the items settled in the Hall contract, third company to agree to the clause in this industry, he said.

Hall employees all but three of them women are paid on a piece-work basis, with minimum guarantees in three classes of operator: $1.10, $1.15 and $1.20 an hour.

Extortion Charge Laid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Richard Clarkson, 38, and Herbert Carkeet, 27, were charged Sunday with attempting to extort $3,000 from a lumber company owner.

The pair were to appear in court today.

Police said Buntar Singh, owner of Quality Lumber Ltd., received a threatening letter last week which told him to leave an envelope containing $3,000 under a pile of rocks in suburban Richmond.

Police arrested two men who attempted to pick up an envelope with papers in it.

The answer to these and many other questions depends on the willingness of the other five members to go along with French ideas about Common Market farm policy.

Missing Model in Madrid

MADRID (Reuters) — A British embassy official said British model Christine Keeler, central figure in Britain's latest "head-line" sensation, spent the night in Madrid police headquarters but left there today.

He said as far as he knew the 21-year-old redhead, who failed to show up to testify for the prosecution at a recent London criminal trial, had presented herself voluntarily to police and was able to leave when she wished.

Usually reliable sources said Miss Keeler may have gone to the police to avoid the attention of reporters and photographers, but no official explanation of her action was available. An embassy official said she was still in Madrid and the British consul had been in touch with her.

The model was tracked down by reporters in Madrid Sunday night.

RETURN NOT SOUGHT

British embassy circles said Sunday the British government had not asked for Miss Keeler's return to London.

The English girl was found at the Madrid apartment of an American businessman. She said she left London "because of all the things people were saying about me—and which are not true."

She disappeared from London shortly before the recent trial of John A. Edgcombe, 30, a West Indian, jailed for seven years for possessing a firearm with intent to endanger life. She was to have appeared as prosecution witness against Edgcombe, accused of firing five pistol shots at the door of her London apartment.

Following questions in the House of Commons about rumors concerning a member of Britain's Conservative government, War Minister John Profumo, 48, declared in Parliament Friday that while he was on friendly terms with Miss Keeler, there was no impropriety in their acquaintance.

The prime provinces have the highest life expectancy at birth for both males and females.

AMERICAN CRITICISM RESENTED BY GREEN

VANCOUVER (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green said Sunday a U.S. committee report urging Canada to spend more money on foreign aid "appears to me to be another case of Americans trying to tell Canada what to do."

In an interview at his home here, Mr. Green said he always wants to see more money spent on foreign aid "but it must all come from the taxpayer's pocket."

"Americans spend great sums on foreign aid to influence the politics of that country."

"Canada doesn't loan money—she gives it."

Gen. Lucius Clay, head of the committee, told a press conference in Washington Saturday that Canada had "done very little" in providing economic assistance and that it "should do more than it has."

U.S. to Tighten Foreign Aid

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presented with a presidential committee recommendation to tighten up the United States foreign-aid program, Congress appears likely to respond by tightening the purse strings to the extent of about $1,000,000,000.

There are indications the program will be the main target of efforts to trim President Kennedy's $98,800,000,000 budget.

Kennedy has asked $4,900,000,000 for foreign aid for the year beginning July 1, $1,000,000,000 more than this year. Kennedy, however, is expected to send a message to Congress this week cutting back his aid request by $200,000,000 or more.

But one high official remarked that the administration will be "lucky" to escape with a reduction of no more than $1,000,000,000.

In a hard-hitting report, the presidential committee — made up of 10 private citizens headed by Gen. Lucius Clay — told Kennedy the program was too big—trying to do "too much for too many."

The report says most U.S. allies are not sharing enough of the foreign-aid burden, and suggested that Canada, Italy, the United Kingdom, West Germany, and others might do better. It gave a pat on the back to France, which it said is the only U.S. ally giving aid at a rate comparable to the U.S. But even France could do better, the report said.

The report, made public Saturday evening, found that this year's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program was overweight by $500,000,000 when weighed on the scales of the tougher new standards it was recommending.

William T. Dentzler, executive director of the Clay committee, said Sunday night the "overweight" reference was to this year's program, ending June 30, and not next year's. Also, he said, the report listed several new projects which it thought should be added.

The committee did not propose any immediate specific cuts. It urged, though, graduated future reductions, tightening of assistance criteria and reassessment of administration procedures and personnel.

These steps, it contended, were necessary to strengthen the program which the committee felt was essential to security of the United States and the non-Communist world.

The only committee member to dissent was AFL-CIO President George Meany. He said aid funds should be "substantially increased." He complained the report might be "disastrously used" by critics of foreign aid.

Setbacks Seen for Mac

LONDON (Reuters) — The electoral popularity of Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative government will be tested twice this week and observers expect the ruling party to suffer more setbacks.

The tests come in parliamentary by-elections at Rotherham in Yorkshire, and Swansea in Wales. In both it looks as though the opposition Labour party will retain its hold on the seats with ease.

The two votes come exactly one week after the socialists successfully defended their Colne Valley seat in a by-election that saw the Conservatives pushed into third place on the poll by a resurgent Liberal party.

Davey Moore Loses His Life After Losing His Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Davey Moore, 29, a colorful ring champion for nearly four years, died today of injuries received in the fight last Thursday that cost him his world featherweight title.

Moore lapsed into a coma shortly after his bout with Sugar Ramos and never regained consciousness.

Moore's wife, Geraldine, 26, had maintained a bedside vigil in the hospital much of the time. But she had become exhausted and was resting in a nearby room when death came at 2:20 a.m. PST.

Moore gave up his title—and his life—in the city of his greatest triumph. It was here that he won the featherweight crown from Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria in 1959.

Ramos, the new champion, sobbed in an apologetic meeting with Mrs. Moore Sunday. The Cuban-born boxer, a Mexico City resident, told Mrs. Moore how sorry he was and said that he was "praying every night" for the recovery of his opponent in the tragic bout.

"I am very sorry," Ramos said through an interpreter. "It was God's act," replied Mrs. Moore. "I want you to understand I'm not blaming you for anything. Both of you went into the ring for the championship. One of you had to be the winner and it happened you are the lucky one."

"I realize it's hard for you, but you aren't to blame. I'm asking you not to take it that way."

Mrs. Moore maintained her composure and expressed confidence and faith that her husband would be all right.

A late-evening bulletin from the doctors seemed to give her added reason for hope. Moore's pulse, temperature and blood pressure all had shown improvement.

But the fighter's condition worsened during the night. The first bulletin of the morning said Moore's pulse was irregular and described his general condition as deteriorating.

Pope John Sunday called the sport of boxing "barbaric and contrary to natural principles." At Lenten services in Ostia, Italy, the pontiff declared: "Christ engaged in neither boxing nor politics."

California Governor Edmund G. Brown has expressed similar opposition to the sport and has called for its banishment from the state.

However, assembly Speaker Joseph Carino of the New York State legislature, said Sunday night his state is "not going to abolish boxing" because of the Moore incident.

Moore was knocked out by Ramos in the 10th round. But doctors said Sunday that Moore probably suffered most of the damage to his brain when the back of his head struck the lower strand of the ring ropes after he was knocked off his feet in the tenth. They said the punches he took early in the fight had a cumulative effect that may have contributed to the brain damage.

Moore had suffered only one other knockout in his 66-fight professional career. He had scored knockouts himself in 29 of his 58 victories.

Moore did not appear seriously injured when he talked to reporters after the Thursday fight. But, shortly after the reporters left, he complained of a headache.

Suddenly his head dropped forward and he was in a coma from which he was never to recover.

Moore's collapse in the dressing room was surprising because, while he was hit hard, he did not really appear to be taking an unusually savage beating.

At least it did not look like the kind of beating Benny Kid Paret took when he was fatally injured by Emile Griffith in New York City a year earlier.

In addition to Moore and Paret, two other men have died as the result of championship fights in ring history.

Back in 1897, Walter Croft died after a fight with Jimmy Barry in London to clear up the disputed possession of the bantamweight title.

There have been many other prominent ring deaths, including Ernie Schaaf and Frankie Campbell. Schaaf died after a 1933 bout with Primo Camera and Campbell after a fight in 1930 with Max Baer.

Both Camera and Baer became heavyweight champions.

Kennedy Curves Chicubs

President Kennedy threw a curve ball at Chicago Cubs Saturday.

Noting that technological advances have enabled fewer men to do more work—"79 men can now produce as much steel as 100 could a decade ago"—the president added:

"Chicago, I might add parenthetically, provides the exception to the pattern since it now takes 10 men to manage the Cubs instead of one."

Actually, the president was being conservative. The Cubs have 12 coaches plus an athletic director.

Elsewhere and otherwise...

IN TRACK AND FIELD, the emphasis was on speed and height. At Tempe, Ariz., Henry Carr broke the world's record for the 220-yard dash with an amazing time of 20.3 seconds, the second time in as many meets he has bettered the official mark of 20.5 held by three Americans.

At Memphis, Tenn., little-known John Penel of Northeast Louisiana University soared 16' 3" to claim a new outdoor world pole vault record. The previous mark of 16' 2 1/2" was held by Pentti Nikula of Finland.

In Houston, Tex., Texas Southern's Gerald Pratt vaulted 16' 1 1/2" and became the 11th member of the 16-foot or better club.

IN SPEED SKATING, Jeanne Asworth made a clean sweep of the North American invitational meet at Lake Placid, N.Y. Bob Fenn of Eggerville, N.Y., took the senior men's title. At Tolga, Norway, Sweden's Johnny Nilsson set a world record for the 3,000 metres, clocking 4:27.6 or 5.4 seconds better than the record held by Norway's Ivar Eriksen.

IN BASKETBALL, the two-time U.S. National Collegiate champions from Cincinnati blew a 15-point second-half lead and lost 60-58 in overtime to Loyola University of Chicago at Louisville, Ky. Loyola caught Cincy with a jump shot by All-American Jerry Harkness and then sealed the heights of U.S. college basketball when 6' 6" Vic Rouse tipped in a 10-foot jump shot by Les Hunter.

IN AUTO RACING, the Italians made a shambles of the 12-hour Sebring endurance race as the sleek Ferrari machines from Modena, Italy, swept the first six positions at Sebring, Fla. The winning car covered 1,084 miles at an average speed of 90.39 miles an hour. Ferrari may have uncovered a new star in John Surtees, a 28-year-old Englishman who used to be world motorcycle champion. Surtees teamed with Italy's Ludovico Scarfiotti to win the grueling marathon over the twisting 5.2-mile course on an abandoned airstrip.

John Canann of Montreal, made the best showing of Canadian drivers. He teamed with Jon Bonnie of Sweden to finish 13th. Peter Lerch and Norman Namerow of Montreal, driving an Apath-Simca, came in 31st.

EX-LAWYER WINS

MIAMI TOURNEY

Limping Sam One Short

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Slender Dan Sikes, who deserted a law career to follow the golfing trail, stood off a strong challenge by the old veteran Sam Snead Sunday and won his first big tournament, the $50,000 Doral Open.

Leading Snead by two strokes going into the last nine holes, the 32-year-old Sikes shot a booming eagle on the 10th, then played cautious par golf the rest of the way. Snead made a powerful bid with birdies on the 14th and 15th and was left only one stroke short of forcing his young opponent into a playoff.

A two-under-par 70, a fine score on the 7,028-yard Doral course, which had frustrated the world's best golfers for four years, gave Sikes the $9,000 top prize with a 72-hole score of 283, five under par.

Slammin' Sam, 50-year-old star of an earlier era, who performed magnificently while limping through the tournament on a sore left foot, shot a 71 for 284 and second money with birdies on the 14th and 15th and was left only one stroke short of forcing his young opponent into a playoff.

Exultant Pilous Believes Chi-Hawks Back on Rails

Coach Rudy Pilous may have been right when he said his Chicago Black Hawks had snapped out of their long slump after Saturday's 4-4 tie with Montreal.

"From now on, we're rolling," he exulted after a three-goal rally in the last 10 minutes pulled the Hawks even.

And roll they did, to a 4-3 victory over Boston Sunday and second place in the National Hockey League standings.

Canadiens me a while fell apart, taking a 5-0 shelling from New York in their last game of the season.

Toronto Maple Leafs, who had first place sewed up going into the weekend, gave up two games to Detroit by one-goal margins. The wins didn't help the Red Wings, who finished fourth.

Detroit's Gordie Howe finished as the league's top individual scorer for the sixth time—an unprecedented feat. He came up with two goals and an assist during the weekend for a five-point margin over runner-up Andy Bathgate of the Rangers. Howe gets $1,500 with the Art Ross Trophy and Bathgate nets $1,250 as second-place finisher.

Glenn Hall of Chicago won the Vezina Trophy as the league's top goaltender for the first time—and $2,000.

The trophy goes to the goaltender who plays most games for the team with the fewest goals against it. The Hawks finished the season with 178 against, compared with Toronto (Johnny Bower) at 180 and Montreal (Jacques Plante) 183.

Toronto now plays host to Montreal, and Chicago to Detroit, for the first two games of their best-of-seven semi-final series Tuesday and Thursday.

Toronto then visits Montreal for the next two—Saturday and Tuesday, April 2. Others, if necessary, will be played in Toronto Thursday, April 4; in Montreal Saturday, April 6; and in Toronto Tuesday, April 9.

The same schedule applies to the Chicago-Detroit series, except that weekend games are played Sundays rather than Saturdays.

Montreal Sets Record for Ties

Dates for the final have not yet been announced.

Howe scored a goal in each game as Wings edged Leafs 2-1 and 3-2. They were his 37th and 38th goals.

The loss in Toronto Saturday snapped the Leafs' nine-game undefeated streak. They had won seven and tied two. Howe and rookie Alex Faulkner scored the Detroit goals and Red Kelly counted his 20th goal of the year for Toronto.

Sunday Howe and rookie Ed Snider each scored a goal, then got together to set up another for Parker MacDonald his 33rd. Ed Litzemberger and Tim Horton were the Toronto scorers.

Chicago, in tying Montreal 4-4 Saturday, helped Montreal to set an NHL record for ties—23 in a season, breaking the record of 22 held by Toronto since 1955.

Bill Hicke scored twice and Terry Harper and Claude Provost once each to give Montreal a 4-1 lead by the start of the third period. But the Hawks came back on goals by Kenny Wharram, Reg Fleming and Pierre Pilote to tie. Ron Murphy had scored for them in the first.

GUY GENDRON FINED $200

BOSTON (AP)—Guy Gendron was fined $200 and suspended from Boston's final National Hockey League game with Chicago Sunday night.

The announcement was made by NHL president Clarence Campbell shortly before the game and after a hearing was held in Boston.

The penalties were invoked against Gendron for pushing referee Vern Bueff with an elbow in Thursday night's game against New York.

The incident occurred shortly after the start of the game when Gendron became infuriated over a call by Bueff.

Sunday, Len Lunde, Bill Hay, Eric Nesterenko, and Murphy scored for Chicago. Dean Prentice, Wayne Hicke, and newcomer Matt Ravlich replied for Boston.

New York, with Camille Henry, scoring his 36th and 37th goals of the season, ran roughshod over the Canadiens Sunday. Don McKenney, Ken Schinkel and Andy Bathgate scored the others.

Kats Double Up For Rugby Wins

VANCOUVER—Double duty was the fashion at Breckton Oval Saturday as Vancouver Kats kept a pair of rugby strings intact.

With all but five of the first-division regulars playing in a tournament at Monterey, California, Kats called on leftovers, former players and their second squad for a pair of B.C. finals.

It turned into a marathon struggle for 10 men, who played most of two matches as Kats tied 33 with Victoria James Bay Athletic Association in the first division final and blanked Victoria Navy 14-0 in the second division title game.

JBAA appeared likely winners in the senior game for the Rounsfel Cup when Bob Wineberg booted a 30-yard penalty goal late in the second half. But five minutes later Larry Whitey earned a draw for the defending champions when he scored a try from a short penalty kick by Ted Hunt.

Scoring for Kats in the second division win over Navy were Bob Perry, Al Borthwick, and Jack Schreiber, all with tries. Harry Schreiber booted a penalty goal and convert.

Major Penalty in Making

Esquimalt Knocked Out But Vic West Hopeful

Esquimalt struck out but Victoria West is still swinging with high hopes of making the Victoria and District Soccer League's first division playoffs.

West's meet league-leading Gorge Hotel in the final game of the regular schedule. That's the one that will decide which four teams play off for the championship.

West's moved to within two points of a final playoff berth Sunday by defeating Evcoes 3-1. Canadian Scottish and Brodies share third place.

Al Macneil scored two goals and Frank Grealy bounced a third in off an Evcoes defender to give West a 3-0 edge in Sunday's match. Dick Austin scored for Evcoes. Esquimalt's hopes of earning a playoff berth went out the window with a 5-2 loss to Gorge Saturday.

Larry Johnston scored twice while Bill Harris, Ian Holroyd and Jerry Cooper counted one apiece for Gorge. Terry Tobacco scored both goals for Esquimalt.

A last-minute penalty goal by Dave Price gave Oak Bay a 1-0 victory over Eddys and created a two-way deadlock between the teams in the round-robin Memorial Cup (championship) series for second division teams.

Eddys and Oak Bay will meet in a sudden-death playoff for the cup at a date to be announced later.

Victoria Trafalgars have brought the provincial senior "B" women's basketball crown back to the city for the first time since 1948.

Trafalgars wrapped up the title at Central Junior High School Saturday night, defeating Trail Pandas 42-25 to take the two-game B.C. final by 39 points.

Pandas dropped Friday's opening game by a 42-30 count, but they have a reputation for come-from-behind victories and some thought they might still upset Trafalgars in Saturday's finale.

But coach Wally Yeamans, well-drilled club had too much balance and poise for the visitors. Trafalgars, checked well, controlled the ball, battled for rebounds and tossed in baskets at a steady pace.

They were ahead 21-10 at half time and were able to coast the rest of the way. Sylvia Campbell paced Victoria snipers with 14 points. Tall Mary Pearson tossed in 11 and Pat Donaldson contributed nine.

Only Pandas able to give Trafalgars steady trouble was Susan LeBerge, who connected for 12 points.

Last Victoria club to win the women's "B" bauble was Hudson's Bay, victor over UBC in the 1948 final.

United Wins Again

Saturday was also a big basketball night for the First United bantam boys. They wrapped up their fifth straight Vancouver Island championship with a 53-44 triumph over Tsolum.

United, which had opened the two-game Island final at Tsolum the previous week with a 31-28 victory, plays for the B.C. title in a four-team tournament next weekend in Vancouver.

Brian McKenzie fired 21 points to pace United Saturday and Brian Craig added 11 for the Victorians.

Cordova Bay Victory

Cordova Bay juvenile girls also won a Vancouver Island championship Saturday although they dropped a 30-29 decision to Courtenay.

Cordova had started the home-and-home final the previous weekend with a 22-16 victory at Courtenay and took the series by five points.

Marilyn Rice fired 16 points Saturday for Cordovas, who will compete in the provincial playoffs in Vancouver April 5-6.

Midget Boys' Title

Cordova Bay didn't fare as well Saturday in the Island midget boys' hoop tourney at Duncan.

75TH ANNIVERSARY

Kennel Club's Shows Draw Record Entry

Unusual breeds are included in a record entry list of more than 280 dogs in the Victoria City Kennel Club's 75th anniversary spring shows.

Scheduled at Club Sirocco Friday and Saturday, the events will be marked by showing of Dandie Dinmonts and Brussels Griffons.

Stanley Whitmore, Richmond Hill, Ont., will judge Friday's show, which starts at 9:30 a.m. Robert Waters, Vancouver, will officiate at Saturday's event, starting at 9 a.m.

Group judging each day will start at 8 p.m.

Shawnigan Sharp

Speed was the feature at Macdonald Park Saturday as Victoria Rugby Union staged a junior seven-a-side tournament.

Shawnigan Lake School, well-tutored and well-conditioned, came out on top, whipping Mount View High 16-0 in the final round of the 16-team event.

The Views had stopped Brentwood College 8-0 in the semi-final round while Shawnigan downed Oak Bay 11-0.

Final a Thriller

On the field hockey front, attention was focussed on the girls' round-robin competition for the Little Bridgman Cup.

The final was a thriller with Norfolk House edging Mount Newton High 1-0 on a tally by Theodora Booker.

Netminders Dominate Minor Soccer Battles

Snipers had a rougher time than usual during Saturday action in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association as goaltenders chalked up 15 shutouts in the 24 games played.

In Sunday's lone league match, Oak Bay Optimists scored a 3-1 Division II victory over South Vancouver Island Lions.

Overtime Goal Sinks Dormans

Dormans came within 51 seconds of forcing a third game in the IAA Commercial Hockey League playoffs and then they blew it all in 83 seconds.

Trailing in the best-of-three league final after losing to Dormans in the opening game, Dormans packed a 3-2 lead into the final minute Sunday at Memorial Arena.

Then Gerry Ciochetti tipped in a rebound for his second goal of the game with 51 seconds remaining in regulation time and the rugged contest headed into sudden-death overtime.

For Dormans, the extra session was short and sweet.

They attacked from their own end. Toby Wilson, taking a picture pass from Del Brown, slashed in from the right, blasted a rising shot into the left corner after 24 seconds, and Dormans had a 4-3 victory and the playoff crown.

Brown was perhaps the man who did the most to sink Dormans. The balding veteran, still smooth on the blades and deft with his passes, drew assists on three goals.

He set up Ciochetti for a first-period goal after Ron Jay and Jack Lundquist had given Dormans a 2-0 lead.

Bob Harris tied it for Dormans in the second and Gary Howard shoved Dormans back in front in the third before Brown started the play that resulted in Ciochetti's tying tally.

Jay, who started in a blaze of glory with the first goal of the game, was a forlorn figure at the end. He drew a penalty at 19:29 of the third period and was still sitting sadly in the box when Wilson wrapped up the season.

STOP U.S. INTERFERENCE NO NUCLEAR ARMS

Fellow Canadians:

There is only one issue in this election: will American interference force Canada to accept nuclear weapons? Or will we reject that interference and put Canada First?

Shall we be masters of our own house, or will we be dictated to by Washington?

President Kennedy forced this election on us as part of his "get tough policy." He hopes a Liberal government will bring the hated nuclear weapons to Canada. To accept nuclear arms would undermine Canadian sovereignty, torpedo disarmament and increase the danger of nuclear war.

The Liberal Party is the pro-American party. Defeat it!

The Diefenbaker Tories, feeling the pressure of the people and not completely willing to prostrate Canada to Washington on this issue, resisted Kennedy's brutal demands.

But the Tories are split. Many of them support American policy. By itself, a government headed by Diefenbaker will be no guarantee that Canada will not back down before American pressure.

Social Credit, with its anti-labor program, held the balance of power in the last Parliament. That must not happen again! The best outcome of this election would be the return of a majority of MP's who are against being pushed around by the U.S.A., and who are against nuclear arms for Canada.

What is needed in the next Parliament is a strong group of MP's, holding the balance of power, able to compel rejection of nuclear arms.

New Democratic Party MP's pledged to oppose nuclear arms, could hold the balance of power in the next Parliament to make sure that Canada will not accept nuclear arms.

The trade unions are officially against accepting nuclear arms. They and many others look to the NDP to come out fighting. If it does that, it can win more than the one million votes it received last June.

Labor must lead the nation to peace and independence!

To contribute to this, the Communist Party is running several candidates pledged to the following platform:

1. No Nuclear weapons for Canada or her armed forces overseas.
2. Stop American interference in Canadian affairs. Canadian independence in economic, diplomatic, trade and military affairs.
3. Withdraw from NATO and NOR-AD and work to abolish terror weapons, for disarmament, peaceful co-existence, world trade, a world without weapons and without war.
4. Unite French and English Canada in a new pact of Confederation between equals, to strengthen Canada's solidarity for peace and progress.
5. An independent Canadian economic policy to put our economy to work for peace and peaceful trade and to give every Canadian a job.

We do not want the murder weapons here! Let us work for the peace and prosperity of our country and of all mankind.

THIRD ON MONEY LIST

Kelso Adds $71,388 to Bankroll

By Associated Press

Kelso came from behind right down the middle Saturday at Bowie, Md., and won the $109,750 Campbell Handicap to become the third-ranking millionaire horse in history.

The six-year-old gelding collected $71,388 more for his owner, Mrs. Richard C. duPont. His total bankroll soared to $1,218,767 to displace Carry Back in the dollar standings behind Round Table and Nashua.

With jockey Ismael Valenzuela, Kelso went under the wire three-quarters of a length ahead of Peter Salmen's Crimson Satan, with the early leader, T. A. Grissom's Gush- ing Wind, third.

Mongo, expected to provide the stiffest competition for Kelso, came in fourth.

The Saturday before Kelso captured the Gulfstream Park Handicap with ease, earned $70,500 and passed Citation as the world's fourth leading money winner.

At Miami, Fla., Greentree Stable's Tutankhamen, with the brilliant Willie Shoemaker aboard, sped to a convincing 2 1/2-length triumph in the $51,335 Donn Handicap.

El Loco finished second and Parka was third in the 1 1/2-mile feature on the grass.

The crowd of 17,311, which turned out in ar, 75-degree weather for the last big handicap race of the Florida season, made Tutankhamen the 9-5 favorite despite his burdensome 124 pounds.

Kisco Kid, third longest shot on the board, Saturday easily won the 54th running of the Paumonok Handicap at New York's Aqueduct Park.

A crowd of 51,446 was on hand as Kisco Kid sped the six furlongs in one minute, 9 1/5 seconds, only a fifth off the track record.

Kisco Kid, who could have been claimed for $25,000 on Jan. 21 at Hialeah, took down $18,900. It was his first stakes victory.

UCLA Nips UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Peter Nicklin booted a 50-yard penalty goal here Saturday as University of California in Los Angeles defeated University of B.C. 3-0 in an exhibition rugby contest.

UBC won an earlier contest this week 9-3.

"That cute pro is certainly annoying! I took 10 lessons from him, and all he did was teach me to play good golf!"

Shibuya, Arakawa Take Tag Tussle On Grapple Card

Kinji Shibuya and Mitsuo Arakawa won the featured tag-team bout on Saturday's professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena, defeating Cowboy Carlson and Dan Miller before 1,237 fans.

In other matches, Gene Kinski defeated Sandor Kovacs, Fritz von Goering bested Seymour Koenig and Eric Froelich grappled to a draw with George Kosfi.

No matches are scheduled here next Saturday.

Choral Readers Impressive

A moving recital of Alan Paton's South African novel, "Cry, The Beloved Country," was given in Metropolitan United Church Sunday night as the Choral Readers of the University of Puget Sound, Tacoma.

Wearing white robes to represent the black population and gold to represent the "whites" the students interpreted the story and feeling and reverence and a deep understanding of what the author intended.

Their diction, timing and dramatic eloquence were appreciated by a full congregation, including visitors from other churches.

The leading role of Rev. Stephen Kumalo, a colored church minister, was played by Arthur Ackerman, 42-year-old Tacoma student, who left a business career to train as a teacher among the colored peoples of the United States.

He was supported by a cast of 30 students directed by Prof. Martha Pearl Jones, with Wilbur Baisinger as technical director.

It was their 15th recital of the Paton novel on the Pacific Coast since the beginning of the year and the first in Canada.

'BUSYBODIES' HARD AT WORK IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Two million government-sponsored busybodies are badgering bureaucrats, inefficient managers and lazy workers in the Soviet Union.

The job of the 2,000,000 "activists" is to investigate shortcomings and mistakes at all levels of the economy. Formed into more than 350,000 groups and committees following Premier Khrushchev's top-to-bottom shake-up of the economy last November, they are looking into the workings of factories, offices, farms, railway stations and ports and the honesty of individual officials.

GOVT. OFFER REJECTED

French Miners 'Dig In'

PARIS (Reuters) — Some 210,000 coal miners appeared to be presenting a solid front to the government today in their strike for higher pay.

Their leaders Sunday angrily turned down a government coal board offer and did not set a date for further negotiations. Picket lines were bolstered at the nationalized mines in the north and east but practically all the miners appeared to be staying away from work as the unions dug in for a long struggle with President de Gaulle's government. The strike has paralyzed France's coal industry.

Trouble for the government also piled up at the giant, strike-hit natural gas field at Lacq, in southwestern France.

It normally supplies half of France's production but was down to one-sixth of the usual output. The attitude of the 3,000 Lacq workers hardened.

"The climate is not favorable for talks, a union leader declared. 'We continue our strike until the fulfillment of our claims.'

SOME GAS PRODUCED

The natural gas workers previously said they would not return to work before the coal miners but did allow more gas to be produced Sunday because of the current cold spell.

The main issue in the labor disputes is the difference between incomes of workers in government-owned industries and in private enterprise.

High Standards Set In Musical Program

By PETER MATTHEWS

Violinist Clayton Hare and pianist Dorothy Swetnam, along with the Portland String Quartet, presented an interesting program of delightful music which contained a number of highlights on Friday evening at Victoria High School.

Mr. Hare is a violinist of obvious competence who displayed a considerable technique along with a sweetness of tone which he never allowed to become harsh or overly brilliant.

The Andante in the Vivaldi concerto, and the Nigun from Baal Shem suite by Bloch were exceptionally beautiful in tone quality and the pyrotechniques in the Sarasate Introduction and Tarantelle demonstrated Mr. Hare's prowess as a virtuoso.

Miss Swetnam gave sympathetic understanding and strong support throughout both in her accompaniments and partnering Mr. Hare in the Mozart Sonata in G.

EX-VICTORIANS

A highlight of the evening was the performance of the Portland String Quartet, which included two of Victoria's own former student, James Ross, violin and Michael Adamson, viola, of whom Victoria can be justly proud.

This ensemble is well balanced and gave an intelligent, artistic reading of the American Quartet of Dvorak.

Under the competent leadership of the first violinist Karen Swenson the quartet gave attention to the dynamics and obscure nuances as well as demonstrating unshakable rhythmic stability which all added up to a most exciting performance.

The evening ended with the concerto for solo violin, solo piano and strong quartet by Chausson. Here in this rather florid work, special mention must be made of some very mu-

Groups Protest Ban on Sirens

DUNCAN—Ambulance societies on Vancouver Island will protest to Attorney-General Bogan a proposal to prohibit the use of sirens on ambulances.

They claim the removal of sirens will slow down the emergency service to hospitals, especially during peak traffic hours.

George Sinden, president of the Duncan-Kiwanis Ambulance Society, who has organized a movement to halt the move, said a siren is necessary to clear the road on the Malahat during weekends when traffic is heavy.

It was also necessary when doctors request an ambulance to proceed to the hospital with utmost haste, he said.

He said drivers of ambulances use the siren with discretion, chiefly to get through traffic while en route to accident calls.

"It is not necessary," he added, "for ambulances to travel at dangerous speeds, but in some cases the flashing red light is not enough to obtain the right-of-way."

Mr. Sinden's protest to the government is backed by the Chemainus Ambulance Society and the Sooke ambulance drivers.

The siren ban is contained in a Motor Vehicle Act amendment now before the legislature.

NORTH COWICHAN—Albert Baumgart, Cowichan Station, has been elected president of the Cowichan Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Directors elected were T. Y. Bazett, G. Braithwaite, A. de Wit, C. J. Williams. Cy Stirling is secretary-treasurer.

NANAIMO—Thousands of cod and young salmon are being killed by dynamite in the Alberni Canal, according to the Nanaimo-Alberni District Labor Council.

The council plans to inform the federal fisheries department.

Secretary Bud Handley said MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River, Ltd., is using the explosives in underwater construction.

"The game warden visited the spot with me and he couldn't see dead fish for the thousands of seagulls the corpses had attracted," he said.

NANAIMO—Nanaimo-Alberni District Labor Council has been told the Carpenter's Union (CLC) is opposed to a government bill amending the Apprenticeship Act.

Unionist Arnold Smith said the carpenters object to removal of the age limit, now 15, at which an apprentice may start work.

"Elimination of the age specification would mean younger children could be sent out to work," he said. "While that can be done today, it requires a special permit from the department of labor."

COURTENAY—British Columbia Conservative leader Davie Fulton decided against crossing a PWA picket line at Vancouver Airport on Saturday.

He made himself late for a whirlwind one-day campaign tour of the Comox-Alberni riding by taking time to find a charter plane for the trip to Campbell River.

Later he visited Courtenay, Parksville and the Alberni's with candidate Alex Crouch.

At Courtenay Mr. Fulton said Canada's economic growth has been better so far in 1963 than the record year of 1962.

He told a luncheon audience of 100 that despite the preachings of doom of all opposition parties, growth in Canada's gross national product last year was the best in the free world.

Mr. Fulton said the Diefenbaker government is proud, willing and happy to be judged on its record.

"We invite judgment and comparison. I wonder if other parties dare do the same," he said.

COURTENAY—A record enrolment of night school students will hold an open house Thursday for displays and demonstrations of the season's classwork.

A practice session of the night school adult band will be on view along with products of craft, hobby, commercial and academic courses.

Public attendance from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Courtenay Senior Secondary School is expected to exceed the 500 of last year.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Lumber and building supply dealers on the Is. and will hold a get-together and workshop here in June.

Members of the B.C. Lumber Survey group, they will discuss mutual problems in the business and also enjoy a round of social activities.

About 50 to 60 dealers and wives will attend. The three local building supply dealers will act as hosts.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Jaycees will sponsor an "all candidates" political meeting here next Monday.

All four candidates—Tom Barnett, NDP; Bill Moore, Liberal; Alex Crouch, Conservative; and Hazel Fee, Social Credit, have accepted invitations.

Each speaker will be given 10 minutes to outline his party's program, and a five-minute rebuttal. A question and answer period will follow.

THE SUN DIDN'T SHINE but it was still a bright day for labor when the first sod was turned this morning on construction site of new $150,000 union headquarters at Quadra and Market. The man on the shovel was 81-year-old Percy Rayment, a veteran trade unionist and former presi-

Monte Roberts

The following may come as a bit of a shock to loyal constituents who agree with one of my pet theories about this, The Fairest City of Them All.

The pet theory to which I refer has to do with vacations, and time and time again I have said, why go anywhere on your vacation if you are a resident of this, The Fairest City of Them All?

After all, almost everyone else who doesn't live here comes to this, The Fairest City of Them All, on his or her vacation.

On the surface, it would appear to be sheer madness to go anywhere else.

So what am I going to do on my vacation this summer—for only the second time in the 12 years I have been a return resident of this, The Fairest, etc.?

I am going elsewhere.

To be specific, I am going to use the inshore waters of aforementioned ocean and make my way to Alaska.

Aided and abetted by a ship named Ss Glacier Queen, one of the northbound fleet operated by Alaska Cruise Lines.

The reason for this expedition to Alaska—and my defalcation from why-go-anywhere-on-your-vacation-when-you-are-already-there—is because I am tired of hearing about our cousins to the south of us, lurking in wait behind unpatented nine thousand miles of undefended border.

I figured it was time to have a look at our cousins to the north of us, who paraded themselves out of the fifty-four-hundred-fifty-four.

For a long time, I have doubted that even the Lady known as Lou could boast of 54-40, and now I intend to find out.

Another reason I shall be aboard Ss Glacier Queen on her first sailing, May 2, is that I once was an amateur wrestler. Not very good at it, I admit, but I did enjoy catch-as-catch-can.

There is also a rumor that Alaska scenery is even better than the scenery which is all around and about this, The Fairest City of Them All.

I feel duty bound to investigate this rumor, and report my findings to the loyal constituents who are undoubtedly shocked at my vacation plans.

Juneau what I mean?

Topics of the Day

A $300 dog reported missing Saturday night was seen being loaded into a car at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Nicky, a pedigree Samoyed, still is missing, and his owner, Vern Exton, 3631 Quadra, has offered a $50 reward for his recovery.

Police questioned occupants of a car into which the white dog was loaded at Topaz and Douglas, but the men said they let the animal out again in the 1700 block Fernwood.

The dog is two years old and is tattooed on the inside of his left rear leg.

St. Alban's 50-Up will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Parish Hall, 1468 Ryan Street.

Slides of Austria, Greece and Turkey will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. in James Bay United Church.

Ask The Times

Q. Is it true that some persons receiving such pensions as city or municipal do not get the old age security at age 70?

A. No. Any person can receive old age security at age 70 whether they are a millionaire or a pauper if they apply for it. However, there is a residence clause in the application which states the applicant must have lived in Canada for 10 years.

Q. Please tell me the populations of Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C. A.A.

A. Population of Seattle is 577,087; Greater Seattle, 1,107,213. Vancouver's population is 384,522 and the number of residents in Greater Vancouver is 790,165.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Record Number Of Candidates As List Closes

Nominations for the April 8 federal election officially closed at 2 p.m. local standard time today.

At press time, no unexpected nominations had been filed at the Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich returning offices. The nine nominations filed were, as expected:

Victoria — Eric Charman (Conservative), David Groos (Liberal), Millard Mooney (Social Credit), Harry Fanthorpe (National Democratic Party), Foster Isherwood (Independent).

Esquimalt — Saanich — George Chatterton (Conservative), Edward Lum, (Social Credit), Robert Ostler (Liberal), John Windsor (New Democratic Party).

UNTIL 2 P.M.

Late-filing independents had until 2 p.m. to enter their names for the contest.

A record number of candidates was expected across Canada. An unofficial compilation showed 1,016 candidates have already completed the formalities for nomination or announced their intention of contesting the election.

This is the same total as 1962's record, 1,016. With the nomination of late-filing independents, last year's total likely will be surpassed.

Progressive Conservatives and Liberals have candidates for all 265 seats so there will be no acclamations.

The New Democratic party and Social Credit follow 228 and 225 nominees respectively and may increase these totals slightly. There were 13 Communists and 20 independents.

In 1962, the Conservatives also entered a full slate. Liberals had 264, Social Credit 230, NDP 218, Communists 12 and independents 27.

MORE WOMEN ENTERED

There has been a sharp increase in the number of women candidates with 42 nominated. There were 27 in 1962 when five were elected.

PCs and NDP both have 14 women candidates and Liberals and Social Credit have six each. There is one Communist, Mrs. Jeannette Pratte, in Montreal Hochelaga, and an independent, Mrs. Ann Piduchney, in Vegreville.

The party leaders all are engaged in four-way contests, Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Prince Albert, Liberal Leader Pearson in Algoma-East, Social Credit chief Robert Thompson in Red Deer, and T. C. Douglas, head of the NDP, in Burnaby-Coquitlam.

Today's nominations are in 242 of the nation's 263 constituencies, two of which elect two members apiece. Nominations closed two weeks ago in the other 21 ridings where extra time is needed for distribution of election supplies.

Servicemen Attacked

City police are investigating an attack on three servicemen on Princess Street early Saturday morning, in which the trio was beaten and robbed.

Gary Thompson and Robert Hunter of HMCS New Glasgow, and Charles D. Haslam, Work Point Barracks, were talking to a girl in the 800 block Princess when a group of men came out of a nearby house and attacked them.

When the servicemen took refuge in Thompson's car, they were dragged out and set upon by the gang.

Proud Camel Wins Children's Votes

Several hundred children who have visited the 3,000 Years of Chinese Art exhibit at the Art Gallery have pumped for a two-humped camel with a "proud face" as the most outstanding exhibit in the show.

The pottery camel dating back to the Tang dynasty 1,000 years ago caught the fancy of the majority of children. But a horse and rider of the same period and made of the same material, proved nearly as popular.

Third choice was a porcelain duck of the Han dynasty. The choice of many girls is a colorful robe of the Emperor Chien Lung of the 18th century which was loaned to the gallery by Mrs. A. J. Tullis of Victoria.

The show closes Sunday. Curator Colin Graham said attendance is picking up as the exhibition nears its end.

"We expect record crowds this week," he said, "including some visitors from Vancouver."

More than 3,000 have attended the exhibition.

PROROGATION BY QUEEN HELD UNLIKELY

There was still no official word to press time, but it is now felt unlikely that the Queen will accept an invitation to prorogue the B.C. legislature.

The invitation was cabled to the Queen's secretary on Friday.

The Queen and Prince Philip are due in Vancouver Wednesday for a brief stop-over on their way home to England from an Australasian tour.

It was expected that Premier Bennett would announce the royal reply when the House sat this afternoon.

Two Women Injured In Crash

An elderly woman is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital following a two-car crash at Government and Toronto Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. F. Wishart, 412 Dallas, received forehead and back injuries in the accident which occurred at about 4:15 p.m.

THROWN OUT

Mrs. Louisa Bates, 70, of 1941 Cochrane, who was thrown from the car, was discharged from hospital after treatment for bruises and leg abrasions. Police said Henry A. Bates was driving south on Government when he collided with a car driven east on Toronto by James H. Bowman.

Also on Sunday afternoon, a small car rolled over after hitting a rock bluff on the Trans-Canada Highway near the Shawnigan Lake cutoff.

A number of juveniles were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for injuries received and were released.

NEW SCHOOL

Tutors Offer Help For 'June Ordeal'

By IAIN HUNTER

Nearly 25,000 pupils in Greater Victoria schools will write exams in less than three months.

Nowhere near all of them will pass.

But 80 local teachers are offering tuition guaranteed to push every willing student through the June ordeal.

The teachers—there may be more of them now—have been recruited as staff of a new school which arrived in Victoria at the beginning of this month.

It is not part of the Greater Victoria school system; it is not a private school.

TUTORS ONLY

The new arrival is one of several schools being established in Australia, New Zealand, the U.S., Britain and Canada, composed solely of tutors.

Darvill Malcolm, of Sydney, Australia, where the scheme originated, is director of the Universal Tutoring College.

He explained Thursday the college is designed "to fill the gap between what the pupil knows and what he should know" according to his grade level.

"We have found that most 'drop-outs' or failures occur where a child has missed something to cause him to fall behind in his work, and has lost interest in studying as a result," Mr. Malcolm said.

He said children take one of two attitudes when they are sent to an ordinary tutor by their parents.

They either kick against it and refuse to co-operate, or they regard being tutored as a "miraculous cure" and do nothing in ordinary school hours.

FAILURE

In both instances, tutoring is a failure. "So first of all we talk to the boy or girl before we enrol them, try to find out where

Watchman Foils Safe Burglary

Truck All Ready To Haul Off Loot

Thieves who struck at two business premises in Greater Victoria early Sunday morning were frightened off before they could steal anything.

A night watchman at Weston's Bakery Ltd., 754 Fairview, heard burglars who attempted to steal the company safe in one of the bakery delivery trucks at about 1:30 a.m.

They fled when he went to investigate.

ALL READY

The delivery van was backed up to a rear entrance ready to receive the four-foot-high safe which had been moved from an office.

It is not known how entrance was gained to the premises, and nothing was reported missing.

ALARM SOUNDED

It was a burglar alarm system which is believed to have frightened off thieves breaking into Page The Cleaners, at 2929 Douglas, at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police who rushed to the premises in response to the alarm found a window in the southeast corner of the building broken and opened. Nothing was taken.

ITALIAN CHANTEUSE Nina Silvana will add beauty as well as song to the International Festival planned to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by the Empress Hotel using European talent. A stunning redhead, Miss Silvana has appeared in leading clubs in the U.S. and in television programs in Italy, Germany and Spain. She is a popular singer but also has studied operatic singing as a lyric soprano.

MOST ECONOMICAL

The plant would be the most economical method considering the number of taxpayers now in the area, but "disposal in the sea will become desirable and possibly essential once the population reaches about 20,000," he said.

He said with the tidal action in Portage Inlet and the proposed quantities of effluent, the algae problem in the Gorge should be "negligible."

Under cross-examination, he admitted that the algae problem on Lake Washington, at Seattle, had forced plans to replace present sewage treatment facilities with a pipeline to the sea.

CONSENT INDICATED

Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life said he could not understand the present opposition to the treatment plant because consent by health and municipal bodies had been "implicitly" indicated for some time.

He said the successful battle by the four municipalities to force a private apartment development on Christie Point to build sewers instead of a treatment plant discharging into Portage Inlet could not be regarded as a precedent against Saanich.

The 1957 master plan also proposed construction of the sea outfall "at a future date, possibly 1975," he said.

NEEDS OF 80,000

He said the outfall would handle the needs of 80,000 people but would increase the proposed cost by $875,000.

This would add $33. to the annual $60 average local improvement tax now proposed by Saanich over a 20-year period. If a 30-year period to pay for the project was selected, it would increase the annual charge from an average $50 to $77.

NATIONAL CURATOR SEES SHOW

Russell Harper, curator of Canadian art at the National Gallery of Canada, flew back to Ottawa early today after visiting Victoria Art Gallery and meeting local artists.

"He was much impressed with our current exhibition of Oriental art," said Victoria curator Colin Graham. "With his Victoria visit, Mr. Harper concluded a three-month survey of painting across Canada."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Press the Nozzle—Presto
Your Flat Tire Is Changed

By PENNY SAVER

With cars diminishing in size every year and luggage compartments slowly becoming nothing more than a place to put your thermos and your picnic lunch it is only natural that spare tires should be manufactured that will fit inside glove compartments.

Yes, Penny really found the most compact spare tire ever made. You could even put it in your pocket if you happen to be using your glove compartment for luggage and it only costs $2.99.

Having had a flat only too recently on the way to Green Mountain I came to an abrupt stop when these compact spare tires caught my eye. And when I read the label which said, "No tools or jacks needed I was even more impressed as I had discovered that I didn't know which end of the jack went where."

No more need to fill up that precious luggage space with a spare wheel and no more dirty hands and smudged clothing.

This new spare tire, nothing more than a can of compressed gas and latex rubber, instantly inflates flat tires and seals punctures in 60 seconds. This may mean the difference between catching or not catching a boat, train or plane.

At first warning of that bumpy-bump flat, limp off to one side of the road and stop the car so that the valve is in the 4 or 8 o'clock position.

Reach for your spare tire can, shake, pop off the cap and fit can nozzle over the valve. Press down until the can is empty. Hop back in the car and drive off immediately to give the sealing compound a chance to circulate before it hardens.

Fortunately Penny hasn't had a chance to try this experiment yet, but, if it is insurance against a flat I will be just as pleased.

As long as the can hasn't been opened it can be stored for unlimited time so don't worry about not being able to get a chance to use it before it expires.

Hate changing tires the old-fashioned way? Phone Penny at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Gentlemen Prefer Blondes
But Brunettes Are Healthier

Not long ago I read that some scientific studies indicate there will be fewer and fewer (natural) blondes from here on. (This will be good news to a lot of women.) The studies expressed the belief, too, that brunettes, as a general rule, have better health and more personality than do blondes.

The whole thing was a surprise to me because it seems to me that today many more women are turning blonde than are turning grey. If these studies had come up with the idea that greyheads are on the way out, it would have been easier to believe.

Hair rinses and dyes are so greatly improved that it really is often difficult to know whether or not a woman uses hair coloring. The question of whether or not to take advantage of dyes is, of course, a very individual matter. Grey hair can be extremely smart looking and it is most becoming to many women.

You may want to try a rinse instead of a dye. If your hair is completely grey, this will not cover as successfully as a dye. However, if your hair is only partly grey, rinses are most effective. They cover and blend so that the whole effect is lovely. There are rinses which wash out with each shampoo and there are others which last for several weeks.

If you have your hair dyed, avoid either black or red unless your hair is naturally one of those colors. Be sure that the shade is neither coal colored or brassy looking. A smart operator can avoid this today.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Framing Your Face Attractively," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 51 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY

A Tickler!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I grew a beard in 1955. I got the prize for the longest beard in town. I also had a beautiful moustache, which measured 7 1/2 inches long. After the celebration I shaved my face clean. Everyone told me I should have kept the moustache. My wife especially. I am starting to grow one again, but I don't know how to shape it. Is there a book of pictures showing different styles and shapes of moustaches? I'm pretty good with a straight-edge razor. Does any place still sell moustache wax?

F.W.M.

DEAR F.W.M.: Ask the best barber in town to shape your moustache the first time, then follow his line. (He'll know which style suits you best.) Moustache wax can be found in drug stores. Good luck. Your wife will be tickled, I'm sure.

DEAR ABBY: How does a girl know what to order on a date? For instance, last night, after a school dance (not formal), three of us couples went out to eat. I don't know how much money my date had and I didn't want to take a chance on embarrassing him, so I said I wasn't very hungry and all I wanted was coffee. My date ordered himself a shrimp cocktail, steak sandwich, French fries and a sundae. The other kids ordered the same. What should I have done?

THE CONSIDERATE ONE.

DEAR CONSIDERATE: Before ordering you should have asked your date for a suggestion. Or, "What do you feel like?" Even after having ordered coffee and everyone else had ordered extravagantly, you could have said, "I've changed my mind. I'll have the same."

DEAR ABBY: About those busybodies in "Small Town," who thought the man with five small children should have delayed his second marriage out of respect to his wife's recent death: Wonder if any of them ever offered to help with the kids or brought over a hot meal or volunteered to do a day's laundry? He was fortunate to have found someone to step in. He needs sympathy and understanding, not criticism. I, for one, wish them all the luck in the world.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Frances Morgan, age 10, of Fredericton, N.B., Canada for her question:

Can a shark grow new teeth?

The hungry shark is a shark's jaws. Teeth and toothy toothy animal, and some of scales follow the same pattern. The big fellows are always terms of growth and seem to eager to attack a swimmer. They can tear into human flesh and bite off arms or legs. Some sharks have several rows of teeth, and when some are lost, there are always new ones ready to replace them.

The sea was infested with sharks long before the true fishes arrived. Their family tree dates back more than 300 million years, and they have never developed many of the features we find in the real fishes. A shark, for example, has no bones. Its skeleton is made of gristly cartilage.

The shark has other features which set him apart from other animals. And perhaps his most outstanding feature is his teeth. He has several rows of teeth in his mouth, and the most amazing fact is that his whole body is covered with spiky scales which resemble small teeth.

The teeth in the shark's mouth are shaped like little wedges. They are embedded not too firmly in the flesh of the jaw. Since they have no firm roots, the shark is forever losing whole sections of his dental equipment. But this is no problem at all. A shark may have many rows of these rickety teeth, and new teeth are always in the process of growing. When old teeth fall out or get stuck in a mouthful of food, new ones move in from behind to replace them. The teeth are splendid for biting off sections of live meat. But they are no good for chewing, and the shark swallows each mouthful in a gulp.

Has Toothy Scales

The toothy objects on the skin of the shark are often mistaken for scales. But they are unlike the scales of the true fishes. They do not overlap each other, and they do not grow in graceful curves. They are widely spaced and arranged in neat diagonal rows.

The experts call them placoid scales, or denticles. Each is shaped like a small winged dart, but it is made from hard material and coated like a tooth with enamel. The roots of the placoid scales are embedded deep in the shark's spongy, grey skin and fed by nerves and blood vessels.

The toothy tale of the shark is one of the wonders of nature. For the shark may well be the first animal to develop teeth of any kind. And, it seems, he developed teeth all over his body. Near his mouth, the placoid scales change to resemble the teeth in the

DENIAL that she was planning to wed New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was made Friday night in Philadelphia by actress Joan Crawford. "I don't need this publicity," she said, "and I'm sure he doesn't." Miss Crawford, with her daughter, Gindy, 16, is holding award given her by Philadelphia Women's Advertising League. IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy," is certainly true of Robert Taylor.

And of me. Worldly, handsome, enormously successful Bob sat in his commodious suite at the Hotel Pierre recently and swapped country-boy reminiscences with this Broadway columnist who boasts of being born on a farm.

"I once drove a team of horses for a threshing ring," I volunteered, "I was water boy."

"I did that, too!" Bob's eyes flashed. "I got a dollar a day." "Do you remember those feasts the farmers' wives cooked for the threshers?" I asked.

"Stop it! You'll make me hungry!" Bob said. "Stacks of fried chicken, mountains of mashed potatoes, pies and cakes at noon. And we'd go right from the table out into the fields in the hot sun."

Bob wagged his head sadly. "Now they don't do it that way. They have tremendous combines that do the whole thing. I remember," he went on, "the first time when I was riding on a wagon with my dad and he asked me if I'd drive the team."

"You'd have thought I'd got a Rolls Royce!"

And today Bob and his beautiful German wife, Ursula Thiess, a former actress, and their children, Terry, 7, and Tessa, 3, live on a ranch outside Hollywood, where Bob has four mares, a stallion and eight riding horses—13 in all. "I'm raising 'em to sell," Bob said. "Do you know the price of hay has gone up fantastically? Hay is selling for $46 a ton. Forty-six bucks, Yeow!"

It struck both of us as funny—we two city chaps talking about the price of hay—in the Hotel Pierre.

"You see," Farmer Bob explained, "they pelletize that West Coast hay—mix it with molasses and a little grain—and ship it to Japan. That's why it's $46 a ton."

The farm experience has helped Bob in many Westerns—and particularly in his last film, "Miracle of the White Stallions," which concerns a true Second Great War incident. Gen. Patton ordered his "cowboys" to rescue some 70 stallions, and 200 mares which had fallen to the enemy.

"I played the colonel and head of a riding school, and had to ride that Viennese 'dressage' style," he said. "That was unnatural to me. I learned to ride as a kid in Nebraska. My dad said, 'Here's your horse. Get on and ride. And then in the movies, I learned some riding tricks from Harry Carey, Tom Mix and those guys. When I got to Vienna, I found out I didn't know how to ride at all.'"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Laurence Harvey's a busy boy in Dublin; he's filming "Of Human Bondage" by day, editing his own production, "Ceremony" at night... Deborah Kerr's after the Margaret Leighton role in the screen version of "Trelawny of the Wells". Twenty-three Princeton students'll hike the 50 miles from school to see Peggy Lee at Basin St. East... Connie Francis leaves March 29 for a South African tour.

Anne Bancroft plucks a chicken onstage nightly in "Mother Courage" after each show it's raffled off to a cast member... Dick Kellan and Dyan Cannon of the touring "How to Succeed" are romancing offstage, too... Dancers Augie and Margo, who used to dance for nothing at the Palladium on B'way, open April 1 at the London Palladium—but for $3,500 a week... Glenn Ford (whose latest is "Love is a Ball") moved into his 500G Beverly Hills home. A visitor noted the five fireplaces and cracked: "His marshmallow bills alone would break me!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I know a guy so tenderhearted," insists Shelby Friedman of Dallas, "that he even cries when his motor dies."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Thanks to social security, a man can now be financially independent at 65. Thanks to alimony, a woman can do the same thing at 25.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "We'll finish this movie on time if it takes me all year to do it."—Sam Goldwyn.

EARL'S PEARLS: Some people say there are only two sure ways of getting rich in TV—star in your own show, or better yet, be a repairman. The film of Jackie Kennedy's Indian visit was shown locally with Yul Brynner's "Taras Bulba." Someone noted that, with Jackie and Yul in the same show it should have been billed as "The Hair-Do and the Hair-Don't." That's earl, brother.

'He Missed Point,' City Actors Claim

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
Frankly disappointed in their adjudication at the B.C. Region Dominion Drama Festival at Kamloops, Intimate Stage cast and director-writer Tony Nicholson returned home in their chartered bus late Sunday evening.

The closely knit, youthful group appeared unanimous in feeling that adjudicator Esau W. Ljungh, CBC director of drama, had missed the point

PHONIES POSE AS ROYALTY, TAKE CHEERS

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) — A fake queen and duke almost stole the limelight from the real touring royal couple here today.
The "queen and duke" comically dressed pranksters were in an open car which preceded the royal motorcade containing the Queen and Prince Philip.
Crowds along the route laughed but the police were not amused. They stopped the car.
The "queen and duke" sat in the back seat waving to the crowd. In front was their escort, dressed in green helmets, black robes and carrying mock, submachin-guns.

Alberta legislature since 1937, died in Edmonton's University Hospital late Sunday afternoon of a heart attack. He would have been 74 next month.

Fire Levels Barn, Shed In Saanich

A hay barn and equipment shed were destroyed by fire in rural Saanich on Saturday.
Saanich fire department spokesmen estimated total loss in the fire on property of Walter Wonnacott, 6201 Rudolph, at about $2,500. The property is situated off Tanner Road, near Bear Hill.
An 82-year-old retired man's cottage about 30 feet from the blaze also was threatened.

SCORCHED

Angus Cameron was asleep when the fire was first noticed at about midnight and was awakened with difficulty by a neighbor pounding on the door. His cottage was scorched by heat from the fire, but was saved by Saanich firemen, who fought the blaze for three hours.

Besides the barn full of hay, a rototiller, lawn mower and books stored in the shed were lost.
The loss was partly insured.

Three Nations Represented At Medical Talks

Ninety medical officers are attending the annual three-day surgeon-general's clinical conference which opened at HMCS Naden today.

Principal delegate is Surgeon Rear-Admiral T. B. Mc-Lean, surgeon-general of the Canadian forces medical service, whose home is in Victoria.
Two representatives of the United Kingdom, now serving in Washington, D.C., and 10 U.S. medical officers are attending.

The conference opened this morning with an address by F. B. Berry, deputy associate secretary for the health and medical division of the U.S. defence department.

Most sessions are being held in the main theatre of the fleet school at HMCS Naden.

$50,000 Bribe Attempt Claim Rocks Probe

Socreds Reject Perrault Bid To Call Evidence

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi claimed to have evidence that a top Liberal tried to bribe a U.S. contractor to "get him," Liberal Leader Ray Perrault charged today.

Mr. Perrault said the highways minister told him personally he had evidence which "could blow this hearing sky high."

When the legislature's public accounts committee refused to call for the evidence this morning, Mr. Perrault threatened to resign from it.

The committee is hearing allegations of highway graft.

The government majority on the committee—eight Socreds to five Opposition MLAs—defeated Mr. Perrault's motion to either get the evidence or seek permission of the House to turn the whole inquiry over to a Supreme Court judge.

Mr. Perrault told the committee Mr. Gagliardi had called him out of the legislature last Wednesday.

"He claimed to have on his desk two affidavits purporting to link a high ranking Liberal with attempts to bribe a person who is now a witness at these hearings."

Mr. Perrault said Mr. Gagliardi told him the witness was Clyde W. Thornton, who has already testified that he never received favors from Mr. Gagliardi in government projects.

Offer Mentioned

He said Mr. Gagliardi mentioned an offer of $50,000 to $100,000 from the Liberal, whom he wouldn't identify.

Mr. Perrault had copies of a letter he wrote to the minister immediately after this conversation, calling upon him to present his affidavits to the legislature.

It came back with this handwritten note on the envelope: "I would appreciate you destroying this note & forget I ever talked to you. I only deal from the top of the deck. Thank you kindly, Phil."

The hearing adjourned until 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, when it will hear a federal government works employee who inspected Project 819, the centre of the allegations of graft.

Private Fight

Victoria's Sacred J. Donald Smith termed Mr. Perrault's statement, "a private fight" which should not spread to the committee.

Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale) ruled Mr. Perrault's motion out of order.

He said the committee had already decided that it would hear witnesses, not affidavits.

If there was any matter which anybody thought should go before the Supreme Court, he told Mr. Perrault, then it was up to them to take it there.

He said Mr. Gagliardi would be able to "clear up the matter" when he is called as a witness.

"I'll be glad to," the minister called from the sidelines.

Mr. Perrault insisted that he be allowed at least to file his letter and Mr. Gagliardi's answer.

"We don't want the letter," said Waldo Skillings (SC-Victoria).

Committee counsel Lloyd G. McKenzie backed Mr. Corbett on the affidavits, but suggested they should be filed in the legislature.

Confidence Betrayed

"I think it's a betrayal of personal confidence," Mr. Skillings said.

"Is the minister of highways attempting to intimidate any member of the committee?" asked Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

"He's too small to intimidate anybody," said Mr. Skillings.

Mr. Corbett repeated his ruling and it was upheld by a vote of seven to five.

Mr. Perrault, white-faced, left Courtroom D where the hearings have been under way at the Law Courts for more than two weeks.

"I'm seriously considering withdrawing from these hearings," Mr. Perrault said.

He said he would access his position later today.

He went back into the hearing for the rest of the morning then headed straight for a Liberal caucus meeting at lunchtime.

Leo Nimsick (NDP-Cranbrook) questioned E. H. Barclay, resident engineer on project 819, controversial estimate number five, finally getting the engineer to admit his explanation of a change in the amount of material listed was "worthless."

Would I be fair in concluding in my own mind that the changed estimate number five was done in Victoria completely, and not on your instruction?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

The engineer explained that he and highways department regional engineer D. J. Gormley went over the estimate and Mr. Gormley phoned the highways department in Victoria to have the figures altered.

Mr. Barclay said that after five years—the work was done in 1957—he was trying to "get an approximation of how the estimate was changed."

Drew Up Tables

He drew up some tables covering two stations on the highway project near Kay Falls and Craigellachie, in explanation of the changes, which was there.

Guatemala in Siege To Fight Sabotage

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—The government declared a state of siege today because of a "vast plot" aimed at its overthrow.

The presidential decree revoking constitutional guarantees for 30 days came after weekend acts of sabotage and terrorism which the government attributed to "armed bands of subversive elements."

These include cutting communications lines between Guatemala City and the Atlantic port of Puerto Barrios and seizures of dynamite and subversive documents in the border town of Pedro Alvarado. The government said there had been "contacts" between national guardsmen and anti-government forces, but did not elaborate.

"Recognized Communist elements acting in concert with countries of the same ideology have prepared a vast plan of agitation and violence throughout the national territory endangering public order, life and property," whose principal objective is to overthrow the constitutional government," an official statement said.

Honourable P. A. Gagliardi,
Minister of Highways,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mr. Gagliardi,

This afternoon, you will recall, you asked me to step outside of the House to discuss with you some of the aspects of the current hearings before the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

During the course of our conversation, you advised me that you "had on your desk" two affidavits of such a serious nature that they could "blow this hearing wide open". You indicated to me that "a highly-placed Liberal was involved". You intimated to me that this "man" had offered large sums of money to the witness Clyde Thornton to "get you".

As I expressed to you at the time of our meeting, I have absolutely no knowledge of the matters or the affidavits to which you referred.

In view of the situation, I am writing to make my position on this matter perfectly clear. I consider it your duty to turn over to the Public Accounts Committee, by way of the Committee's legal counsel, forthwith any information or documents in your possession which relate in any way to the matters before the Committee.

If you have any material which discloses or suggests impropriety on the part of any individual or individuals in relation to the Government, its officials or its civil servants, I regard it as your duty to act immediately by placing such material in the hands of the proper authorities.

Yours very truly,

R. J. Perrault

DIEF ARRIVES ON ISLAND

Foreign Aid Welching Denied

Prime Minister Diefenbaker was scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 3 p.m. today. He was to go directly to the Empress Hotel to rest before addressing a meeting at 8 p.m. in Bay Street Armory.

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today denied Washington charges that Canada is welching on foreign aid.

He said in an interview: "Canada has been one of the leaders" in this field.

He said his government has increased Colombo Plan contributions from $35 million to $50 million.

"If we're not giving enough today, what must the situation have been when we came into office?" he asked.

His comments, his first after arriving in British Columbia Sunday night, were in reply to charges made on the weekend by a special U.S. committee set up by President Kennedy. (See stories page 7.)

NEARLY DELAYED

The Diefenbaker arrival at the coast was almost delayed by a mountain slide.

The CPR "Canadian" passenger train, which followed the Diefenbaker train by 2½ hours, struck a 50-ton boulder. No one was injured.

though the locomotive was derailed in Albert Canyon near Revelstoke.

CPR officials were unable to say how long it was after the prime minister's train had passed that the boulder came down.

The "Canadian" was expected to be delayed nine hours, officials added.

SMALL CROWDS

Since his arrival in the province, the prime minister has been greeted by small crowds. Between 50 and 80 persons met him at whistle stops at Golden and Revelstoke, where he did no speechmaking but much handshaking.

At Vancouver, his arrival was quiet except for two bagpipers. Only a handful of people were at the trackside.

He ate breakfast in the station cafe, where the 138 persons seated with him appeared as a large crowd. About 62 persons, several of them carrying Tory placards, stood outside.

WITH GREENS

The prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker shared a table with External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Mrs. Green, when not table-hopping.

Vancouver Tory candidates Fergie Browne and Douglas Jung also were present. B.C. Conservative Association president Cecil Merritt, V.C. had accompanied the prime minister from Revelstoke.

The breakfast was climaxed by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" to which the prime minister replied: "Everywhere the swing is in our favor."

He said he made the same prediction in 1957 and in 1958.

There's more bumps in th' highway enquiry than in th' highway.

Them northern fliers weren't half as lost as some o' th' egg candidates are.

Got a hunch a good many o' th' Conservatives at John's meetin' will be goin' jist for a farewell look.

Sub-Zero Cold, Little Food For Man, Woman

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)—A man and a woman were rescued from the frozen wilds of northern British Columbia today, 50 days after their plane crashed into a mountain side 75 miles southeast of here. Both were injured and had been without food for more than a month.

Pilot Ralph Flores of San Bruno, Calif., and Helen Klaben, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., were picked up by a small aircraft and flown to Watson Lake.

Their single-engine Howard aircraft vanished Feb. 4 on a flight from Whitehorse, Y.T., to Fort St. John, B.C. The wreckage and an SOS were spotted accidentally Sunday by a Watson Lake pilot.

A pilot who helped in the rescue said Miss Klaben had gangrene in a broken right foot and a broken right arm in a splint. Flores suffered broken ribs.

CRIED IN HIS ARMS

Rescue pilot Jack McCallum said Miss Klaben "cried in my arms" when we reached. She was thin but in "good spirits."

McCallum said the pair had nothing to eat after they had gone through two cans of fruit and 10 cans of sardines seven days after the crash.

There was no other food aboard the crashed aircraft. They melted snow for drinking water.

McCallum said the couple had no sleeping bags, no tent and no rifle. The temperature had dropped to 40 degrees below zero during the ordeal. The snow was deep.

Flores and his passenger had moved down the mountain side and set up a tarpaulin for shelter. Wood for a fire was chopped with a hammer and chisel.

TRAPPED OUT SOS

Reports from the scene indicated that it took Flores three days to tramp out an SOS in snow near the crash. The plane came down about six miles from an abandoned trapper's cabin.

Chuck Hamilton, Yukon Flying Services pilot, spotted the wreckage during a flight Sunday with supplies for a big game guide.

It was not known for sure until today whether the two persons seen by Hamilton near the wreckage were Flores and Miss Klaben.

Komish, Yukon Flying Services manager, said before flying to the scene at daybreak that finding survivors "will be a miracle."

Miss Klaben was reported down to 90 pounds. The giant SOS stamped in the snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

SEARCHERS QUIT

Organized search for the Flores plane was suspended by the RCAF March 6 after an area of 147,603 square miles had been covered from the air.

Komish said in a phone interview with an Edmonton radio station that a giant SOS stamped in the deep snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

Hamilton said he saw two persons, one of them a woman, near the wing of a plane on the side of a 4,000-foot mountain about six miles from Watson Lake.

He said smoke from a nearby campfire obscured his vision. He saw "N588" on the wing. The Flores plane was marked "N58856."

Komish said the missing plane did not carry the "best in survival equipment." Search officials reported the plane carried high frequency radio equipment.

DOG TEAM SETS OUT

Two trappers Hamilton met at Aeroplano Lake Sunday planned to set out for the area by dog team. There was plenty of snow, ranging in depth from 26 to 43 inches.

Flores had gone to the Yukon in October, 1960, to work on the Distant Early Warning line as a mechanic. He was flying home. Miss Klaben, a former employee of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in Fairbanks, Alaska, was on her way to Seattle to catch a plane for Brooklyn to visit her mother, Mrs. Ida Klaben.

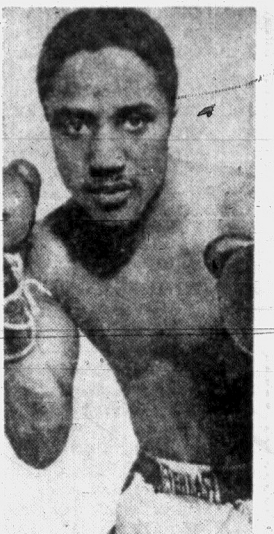

The plane had fuel for six hours flying time when it left Whitehorse on the afternoon of Feb. 4 on a 3½-hour flight to Fort St. John.

On the same day that the Howard aircraft disappeared, a twin-engine private plane ran into icing conditions in the Fort St. John area and made a forced landing at Little Boulder, B.C.

However, that aircraft was undamaged and its two occupants, Ernest Wright of Kaslo, B.C., the pilot, and Carl C. Carriere of Spokane, Wash., were uninjured.

In Brooklyn, Mrs. Ida Klaben described her daughter as a "beautiful girl, very athletic in all ways," with skill at various sports, including skiing, hunting and trapping game.

Commerce Survived Bad Winter

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Business passed an important calendar point the advent of spring, this week in reasonably good shape after a rough winter with hopes that warmer weather will bring an upsurge in activity.

Although the winter was one of the meanest of this century, U.S. business in general didn't suffer badly.

Last week's corporate earnings reports in most cases were favorable and automobile and steel production mounted.

Martin Gainsburgh, chief economist for the National Industrial Conference Board, reported consumer demand is strong and shows no sign of slowing.

He said that as the first quarter ended there were no indications of an incipient decline in business activity. However, he added that "the gain in aggregate economic activity currently and in prospect does not promise to resolve the sticky unemployment which has marred this recovery since it began two years ago."

ORDERS INCREASE

New orders received by U.S. manufacturers of durable goods increased two per cent to a record $17,100,000,000 in February. Trends in these orders provide economists with a clue to future factory production.

Automobile production kept three months rolling along at a high rate according to output last week estimated the Bank of Canada at 154,000 cars against 151,140 in the previous week and 140,599 a year ago. Sales also held at a strong level.

Steel output during the week ended March 16 was at the highest rate in nearly a year. Mills rolled 2,225,000 tons of steel, a gain of 2.7 per cent over the prior week. This pace was at about 70 per cent of the industry's capacity.

Discipline Answer To Litter

The littered state of Victoria streets and sidewalks is due to the "careless, slovenly population here, which needs some disciplinary action," Justin Harbord declared at a meeting of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Friday noon in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Harbord's explosion was prompted by yet another discussion of a perennial topic in chamber discussions: what can be done to clean up debris which accumulates in the downtown area?

As an example of what he meant, Mr. Harbord continued, last week he had observed, outside the Post Office, "a very senior individual" carelessly throwing an empty cigarette package out his car window.

STRENGTHENED

He suggested that Victoria's antilitter law should be strengthened and more rigorously enforced.

Mayor Richard Wilson told the meeting the answer to the problems of enforcing the antilitter law, and other bylaws which are difficult to enforce, could well be found in the Archer report when it is presented in about a month's time.

The discussion was precipitated when Lloyd Davies, chairman of the retail merchants' group, reported that a plan to use mechanical sweepers on downtown sidewalks had been found impractical.

Weight of the machines was too much for sidewalk gratings and elevator coverings, the city engineer reported.

ASK GUARANTEES

The meeting approved a resolution by vice-president E. E. Pearlman, QC, that a letter be sent to the Board of Broadcast Governors asking for guarantees that approval of the sale of Victoria television station CHEK to the CKNW radio interests would be contingent on continued operation of the facilities here.

Mr. Pearlman said there had been rumors that much of the station's operation would be moved to Vancouver.

COMPETING

Stuart Keate, supporting the resolution, said he understood much of the rumor originated with competing TV interests and that the principals of CKNW had stated there would be expanded tape and camera operations in Victoria along with an expanded sales staff in Vancouver.

President Wallace said he had been informed by a CKNW official that the Victoria operation would be maintained "at or near the present level" which led Mr. Keate to request that the discrepancy in the two statements from the company should be noted in the minutes.

ROLLING ALONG on huge tractor-type tires nearly four feet in diameter, a vehicle new to Canada was put through its paces Friday morning at the B.C. Forest Service testing ground near the Langford-Lake Ranger station. Named the Roadless Land-Rover, the vehicle is a conversion of a standard Land-Rover carried out by Roadless Traction Ltd., Hounslow, England. In the demonstration before provincial government officials, the four-wheel-drive vehicle blazed a trail up and down heavily brush-covered, 45-degree slopes, over big boulders and through deep, water-filled ditches. Following the tests in Victoria, the vehicle is being shipped to Shell Oil Co. for extensive tests in northern Canadian muskeg areas. (Photo)

Should there be an increase in capital outlay plans this year, as the bank suggests, there is a healthy supply of Canadian capital available for the job, according to a top official of another financial institution.

John B. Pennefather, vice-president of Industrial Acceptance Corp., said in Vancouver this week at the opening of a new IAC capital funds division that "for every credit-worthy borrower there are four or five lenders willing to supply him with money."

A majority of directors of Shawinigan Water and Power Company have decided to accept a Quebec government offer of $30 a share for the company.

In a letter to shareholders the directors described the government offer as "adequate" but suggested the alternatives to acceptance "might produce a more satisfactory net result."

Four of the 10 companies being taken over have now recommended acceptance of the government offer—Shawinigan, Lower St. Lawrence, Power, Gatineau Power and Northern Quebec Power.

Latest dog thought up by U.S. lumbermen to curtail sales of Canadian lumber in that country is a proposal that the government require all foreign lumber to be labelled with the country of origin.

Testifying before a senate subcommittee, J. R. MacLaren, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Saturday.

Speaking to the Kingston Labor Council's annual education institute, Mr. Morris said: "It is clear that merely to increase productive capacity is not enough. Our ability to produce goods... has far outstripped our ability to provide jobs for our people under existing government policies."

Mr. Morris said Canada's gross national product increased by 6.9 per cent last year, but unemployment declined by only one per cent. He called for a change of thinking in Canada, particularly a change in the view that some unemployment is an economic necessity for this country.

"A full employment economy should be and is what No. 1 objective of the trade union movement."

British American Oil Co. Ltd. had net profit of $34,594,000 or $1.59 a share in 1962, compared with $37,636,000 or $1.59 a share on a smaller number of shares outstanding in 1961.

The 1962 earnings include BA's proportionate share of the full year's earnings of Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. in which it now holds an 89.3 per cent interest.

President E. D. Loughney said earnings from gas and oil production were up substantially but income from refined products was down.

The Canadian treasury bill rate dropped slightly last week to 3.62 per cent from the previous week's 3.64 per cent, on the 31 day bills.

But the steel group as a whole was still higher for the week. Papers were not particularly bright last week as companies still are feeling the effect of the long newspaper strike in New York which is credited with cutting the industry down nearly 14 per cent in Canada.

British American Oil was again the feature among foreign issues as it recorded the highest volume in the group over the week.

The mining market also was feature of a few active and stronger speculative issues.

A majority of gold stocks remained quiet through the week and moved mostly lower.

Western oils repeated their recent common dull performance.

On index at Toronto, industrial group gained 3.84 to 599.13 and western oils 4.74 to 116.88. Golds slipped 10 to 90.95 and base metals 43 to 200.33.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Banks Still Pace-Setters

The stock market was ahead fractionally today after moderate afternoon trading in Toronto, with banks continuing to set the pace.

New York and Montreal exchanges showed slight gains in light trading.

AT TORONTO Royal Bank jumped 1 1/2 to 76 1/2, Montreal gained 1/2, Toronto-Dominion and Imperial Bank of Commerce each 1/4, and Nova Scotia 1/4.

General Motors posted a gain of 1/4 to a new 1963 high of 69 1/2, and rises in a 1/4 to 1/2 range went to Aluminum, Argus Corporation, B.C. Telephone, and Walker-Goodeham.

On the downside, Dominion Foundries and Steel dropped 1/4, Abitibi shipped 1/4, and Building Products was off 1/4.

AT NEW YORK Big Three motors were all moderately higher and there was a general trend ahead among chemicals, airlines and non-ferrous metals.

Gainers on the Canadian section included Aluminum Ltd., up 1/2, Walker-Goodeham 1/4, and Canadian Pacific 1/4. International Nickel, Distillers Seagrams and Dome Mines each added 1/4.

American Exchange prices were higher in moderate trading. Brazilian Traction and Jupiter Corp. tacked on 1/4 each, while Canadian Marconi and Scurry Rainbow Oil eased the same fraction.

AT MONTREAL feature gainer was the Royal Bank, up 1 1/2 to 76 1/2. Other gainers included Great Lakes Paper, up 1/4 to 18 1/4, Aluminum, up 1/4 to 24 1/4, and Power Corp., up 1/4 to 9.

Trading actively but remaining unchanged were Bell at 55, Stelco at 19 and Massey-Ferguson at 13 1/4.

Among losers, Industrial Acceptance was down 1/4 to 25 1/4. In mines, Kiena dropped 20 cents to $3.70.

AT LONDON stock markets began the week on a quietly firm note today but some hesitancy intervened towards the close although the tone remained satisfactory.

Gilt's recorded scattered fractional improvements.

U.S. dollar stocks were firm following Friday's better trend on Wall Street, but Canadians were mixed. Aluminum, Imperial Oil and Algonia all gained a point, while B.C.

Power rose 1/4 to 36 1/4, but Hiram Walker and Abitibi were dull.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light. Cowichan Copper was down at $5 and Granduc at $3.80. Mt. Washington was up at $1.03 while Peso was down at $0.90. Western Mines climbed to $3.25 and Growers B to $1.7.

APPOINT VICTORIA MANAGER
EDWARD F. BYSKAL

ARTHUR A. ROBERTS, president of Maynards, is most pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Edward F. Byskal as manager. Vancouver Island, to supervise both the auction and retail furnishings divisions. Mr. Byskal is married, has three children, and resides at 1134 Wychbury. His hobbies are hunting and antique guns.

Maynards Retail Furnishings division has been developed recently by Mr. Byskal. He has renovated the basement salesrooms at 733 Johnson Street into a brightly lit, attractive showroom, and invites the public of Victoria to see it and inspect the many items in name lines of high quality furniture, floor coverings, appliances, etc. Mr. Byskal's strong desire for satisfactory dealings with both buyers and sellers was brought out when he managed the gigantic liquidation of the George Straith Ltd. clothing stock after their 1962 fire, both in Victoria and Vancouver.

Productivity Won't Solve Unemployment

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Despite a sharply increased gross national product, Canada has the worst unemployment record of any industrialized nation in the world, Joseph Morris of Ottawa, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Saturday.

Speaking to the Kingston Labor Council's annual education institute, Mr. Morris said: "It is clear that merely to increase productive capacity is not enough. Our ability to produce goods... has far outstripped our ability to provide jobs for our people under existing government policies."

Mr. Morris said Canada's gross national product increased by 6.9 per cent last year, but unemployment declined by only one per cent.

He called for a change of thinking in Canada, particularly a change in the view that some unemployment is an economic necessity for this country.

"A full employment economy should be and is what No. 1 objective of the trade union movement."

British American Oil Co. Ltd. had net profit of $34,594,000 or $1.59 a share in 1962, compared with $37,636,000 or $1.59 a share on a smaller number of shares outstanding in 1961.

The 1962 earnings include BA's proportionate share of the full year's earnings of Royalite Oil Co. Ltd. in which it now holds an 89.3 per cent interest.

President E. D. Loughney said earnings from gas and oil production were up substantially but income from refined products was down.

The Canadian treasury bill rate dropped slightly last week to 3.62 per cent from the previous week's 3.64 per cent, on the 31 day bills.

But the steel group as a whole was still higher for the week. Papers were not particularly bright last week as companies still are feeling the effect of the long newspaper strike in New York which is credited with cutting the industry down nearly 14 per cent in Canada.

British American Oil was again the feature among foreign issues as it recorded the highest volume in the group over the week.

The mining market also was feature of a few active and stronger speculative issues.

A majority of gold stocks remained quiet through the week and moved mostly lower.

Western oils repeated their recent common dull performance.

THE SUN DIDN'T SHINE but it was still a bright day for labor when the first sod was turned this morning on construction site of new $150,000 union headquarters at Quadra and Market. The man on the shovel was 81-year-old Percy Rayment, a veteran trade unionist and former presi-

Monte Roberts

The following may come as a bit of a shock to loyal constituents who agree with one of my pet theories about this, The Fairest City of Them All.

The pet theory to which I refer has to do with vacations, and time and time again I have said, why go anywhere on your vacation if you are a resident of this, The Fairest City of Them All?

After all, almost everyone else who doesn't live here comes to this, The Fairest City of Them All, on his or her vacation.

On the surface, it would appear to be sheer madness to go anywhere else.

So what am I going to do on my vacation this summer—for only the second time in the 12 years I have been a return resident of this, The Fairest, etc.?

I am going elsewhere.

To be specific, I am going to use the inshore waters of aforementioned ocean and make my way to Alaska.

Aided and abetted by a ship named Ss Glacier Queen, one of the northbound fleet operated by Alaska Cruise Lines.

The reason for this expedition to Alaska—and my defalcation from why-go-anywhere-on-your-vacation-when-you-are-already-there—is because I am tired of hearing about our cousins to the south of us, lurking in wait behind umpteenth-thousand miles of undefended border.

I figured it was time to have a look at our cousins to the north of us, who handled themselves out of the fifty-four-forty-eight fust.

For a long time, I have doubted that even the Lady known as Lou could boast of 54-40, and now I intend to find out.

Another reason I shall be aboard Ss Glacier Queen on her first sailing, May 2, is that I once was an amateur wrestler. Not very good at it, I admit, but I did enjoy catches-Ketchikan.

There is also a rumor that Alaska scenery is even better than the scenery which is all around and about this, The Fairest City of Them All.

I feel duty bound to investigate this rumor, and report my findings to the loyal constituents who are undoubtedly shocked at my vacation plans.

A $300 dog reported missing Saturday night was seen being loaded into a car at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Nicky, a pedigree Samoyed, still is missing, and his owner, Vern Exton, 3651 Quadra, has offered a $50 reward for his recovery.

Police questioned occupants of a car into which the white dog was loaded at Topaz and Douglas, but the men said they let the animal out again in the 1700 block Fernwood.

The dog is two years old and is tattooed on the inside of his left rear leg.

St. Alban's 50-up will meet Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Parish Hall, 1468 Ryan Street.

Slides of Austria, Greece and Turkey will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. in James Bay United Church.

Ask The Times

Q. Is it true that some persons receiving such pensions as city or municipal do not get the old age security at age 70? C.S.

A. No. Any person can receive old age security at age 70 whether they are a millionaire or a pauper if they apply for it. However, there is a residence clause in the application which states the applicant must have lived in Canada for 10 years.

Q. Please tell me the populations of Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C. A.A.

A. Population of Seattle is 577,687; Greater Seattle, 1,107,213. Vancouver's population is 384,522 and the number of residents in Greater Vancouver is 790,163.

Mrs. H. I. Mallek will address a meeting of Victoria Branch, B.C. Historical Association, Thursday at 8:15 in the cafeteria of the Douglas Building.

The other speaker on the program, Dr. John F. Walker, former provincial deputy minister, of mines will relate "Some Mining Tales."

Margaret Jenkins-Bank Street PTA will hold its annual spring carnival Friday from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Home baking, refreshments and white elephant stalls will be set up.

Ten contestants in the Golden Gavel speech contest, sponsored by Toastmasters clubs of Greater Victoria, will enter the competition's final round tonight at 8 p.m. in the St. John Ambulance auditorium, 941 Pandora.

Those competing for the gavel are W. J. Holloway, L. M. Jones, A. S. De Baeremaker, H. F. Bailey, Ann B. Knight, C. B. Webb, L. A. Watkins, C. J. Brooker, P. J. Redehgh and R. G. Parish.

Three juveniles found sleeping in a car near 251 Howe where five gallons of gasoline were siphoned from a vehicle early Sunday morning, have been charged.

E. J. Colmer reported the gas theft at about 5:50 a.m., and police discovered the three youths, one from Duncan, asleep in a car parked nearby.

A full five-gallon can of gasoline and a hose were found beside Mr. Colmer's car.

James Bay Golden Age Club will meet Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Niagara Street Hall.

James Mair, director of Seven Oaks Treatment Centre, will speak on "The New Institutions" at a public meeting of Victoria Branch, Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children, Thursday at 8 p.m., at Spencerhouse, 1951 Cook Street.

Brentwood Bay Senior Citizens Club will meet Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Brentwood Community Hall.

The president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Frederic Lewis Lawton, will visit Victoria on Wednesday.

On arrival he will confer with the executive committee of the Vancouver Island branch of the institute. In the afternoon Mr. Lawton will call on the commandant of the Tri-services College, Royal Roads, and informally address senior engineering students. Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Lawton, a reception and dinner at Tally-Ho Lodge has been arranged by the local branch of the institute for 6:30 p.m.

Victoria Branch, The English Speaking Union, meets Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Cafeteria. Prof. Roger A. Bishop, Victoria College, will discuss "Some Views of Society."

Several hundred children who have visited the 3,000 Years of Chinese Art exhibit at the Art Gallery have plumped for a two-humped camel with a "proud face" as the most outstanding exhibit in the show.

The pottery camel dating back to the Tang dynasty 1,000 years ago caught the fancy of the majority of children. But a horse and rider of the same period and made of the same material, proved nearly as popular.

Third choice was a porcelain duck of the Han dynasty.

THE CHOICE OF MANY girls is a colorful robe of the Emperor Ch'ien-Lung of the 18th century which was loaned to the gallery by Mrs. A. J. Tullis of Victoria.

The show closes Sunday.

Record Number Of Candidates As List Closes

Nominations for the April 8 federal election officially closed at 2 p.m. local standard time, today.

At press time, no unexpected nominations had been filed at the Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich returning offices. The nine nominations filed were, as expected:

Victoria — Eric Charman (Conservative), David Groos (Liberal), Millard Mooney (Social Credit), Harry Fanthorpe (National Democratic Party), Foster Isherwood (Independent).

Esquimalt-Saanich — George Chatterton (Conservative), Edward Lum (Social Credit), Robert Ostler (Liberal), John Windsor (New Democratic Party).

UNTIL 2 P.M. Late-filing independents had until 2 p.m. to enter their names for the contest.

A record number of candidates was expected across Canada. An unofficial compilation showed 1,016 candidates have already completed the formalities for nomination or announced their intention of contesting the election.

This is the same total as 1962's record 1,016. With the nomination of late-filing independents, last year's total likely will be surpassed.

Progressive Conservatives and Liberals have candidates for all 265 seats so there will be no acclamations.

The New Democratic party and Social Credit follow 228 and 225 nominees respectively and may increase these totals slightly. There were 13 Communists and 20 independents.

In 1962, the Conservatives also entered a full slate. Liberals had 264, Social Credit 230, NDP 218, Communists 12 and independents 27.

MORE WOMEN ENTERED

There has been a sharp increase this election in the number of women candidates with 42 nominated. There were 27 in 1962 when five were elected.

PCs and NDP both have 14 women candidates and Liberals and Social Credit have six each. There is one Communist, Mrs. Jeanette Pratie, in Montreal Hochelaga, and an independent, Mrs. Ann Pidru-chney, in Vegreville.

The party leaders all are engaged in four-way contests. Prime Minister Diefenbaker in Prince Albert, Liberal Leader Pearson in Algoma East, Social Credit chief Robert Thompson in Red Deer, and T. C. Douglas, head of the NDP, in Burnaby-Coquitlam.

Today's nominations are in 242 of the nation's 263 constituencies, two of which elect two members apiece. Nominations closed two weeks ago in the other 21 ridings where extra time is needed for distribution of election supplies.

Service men attacked

City police are investigating an attack on three servicemen on Princess Street early Saturday morning, in which the trio was beaten and robbed.

Gary Thompson and Robert Hunter of HMCS New Glasgow, and Charles D. Haslam, Work Point Barracks, were talking to a girl in the 800 block Princess when a group of men came out of a nearby house and attacked them.

When the servicemen took refuge in Thompson's car, they were dragged out and set upon by the gang.

"We have found that most 'drop-outs' or failures occur where a child has missed something to cause him to fall behind in his work, and has lost interest in studying as a result," Mr. Malcolm said.

He said children take one of two attitudes when they are sent to an ordinary tutor by their parents.

They either kick against it and refuse to co-operate, or they regard being tutored as a "miraculous cure" and do nothing in ordinary school hours.

In both instances, tutoring is a failure.

"So first of all we talk to the boy or girl before we enrol them, try to find out where attendance is picking up as the exhibition nears its end.

"We expect record crowds this week," he said, "including some visitors from Vancouver."

More than 3,000 have attended the exhibition.

PROROGATION BY QUEEN HELD UNLIKELY

There was still no official word to press time, but it is now felt unlikely that the Queen will accept an invitation to prorogue the B.C. legislature.

The invitation was cabled to the Queen's secretary on Friday.

The Queen and Prince Philip are due in Vancouver Wednesday for a brief stop-over on their way home to England from an Australian tour.

It was expected that Premier Bennett would announce the royal reply when the House sat this afternoon.

Two Women Injured In Crash

An elderly woman is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital following a two-car crash at Government and Toronto Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. F. Wishart, 412 Dallas, received forehead and back injuries in the accident which occurred at about 4:15 p.m.

THROWN OUT

Mrs. Louisa Bates, 70, of 1941 Cochrane, who was thrown from the car, was discharged from hospital after treatment for bruises and leg abrasions. Police said Henry A. Bates was driving south on Government when he collided with a car driven east on Toronto by James H. Bowman.

Also on Sunday afternoon, a small car rolled over after hitting a rock bluff on the Trans-Canada Highway near the Shawinigan Lake cutoff.

A number of juveniles were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for injuries received and were released.

NEW SCHOOL

Tutors Offer Help For 'June Ordeal'

By IAIN HUNTER

Nearly 25,000 pupils in Greater Victoria schools will write exams in less than three months.

Nowhere near all of them will pass.

But 80 local teachers are offering tuition guaranteed to push every willing student through the June ordeal.

The teachers—there may be more of them now—have been recruited as staff of a new school which arrived in Victoria at the beginning of this month.

It is not part of the Greater Victoria school system; it is not a private school.

TUTORS ONLY

The new arrival is one of several schools being established in Australia, New Zealand, the U.S., Britain and Canada, composed solely of tutors.

Darvill Malcolm, of Sydney, Australia, where the scheme originated, is director of the Universal Tutoring College.

He explained Thursday the college is designed "to fill the gap between what the pupil knows and what he should know" according to his grade level.

"We have found that most 'drop-outs' or failures occur where a child has missed something to cause him to fall behind in his work, and has lost interest in studying as a result," Mr. Malcolm said.

He said children take one of two attitudes when they are sent to an ordinary tutor by their parents.

They either kick against it and refuse to co-operate, or they regard being tutored as a "miraculous cure" and do nothing in ordinary school hours.

FAILURE

In both instances, tutoring is a failure.

"So first of all we talk to the boy or girl before we enrol them, try to find out where they went wrong, and talk them into a frame of mind receptive to tuition," Mr. Malcolm said. "We want to make them keen to study for their own sake."

During the "indoctrination" process, the path between the pupil's academic level and his ultimate goal is clearly explained.

"If he wants to be a doctor, we show him what subjects he has to study and how many years he has to work before he can enter medicine," the director said.

Staff of the tutoring college is drawn 60 per cent from active teachers in Victoria. The remaining 40 per cent is comprised of retired teachers and university graduates. All are qualified teachers.

Each pupil and tutor is matched according to the student's need.

Some cheeky kids need a gorilla of a teacher, while others who are shy need a milder man or even a woman," Mr. Malcolm pointed out.

AT HOME Tuition is given individually or in groups of up to six students, depending on the pupil. Individual tuition usually is given in the child's house, while classes are held at the college's premises, 2020 Douglas, where the principal, Roger Logan, has his offices.

Only the books used by the child in class are required, and teachers follow the methods used in the pupil's everyday school work.

"We aren't trying to make geniuses out of these boys and girls," Mr. Malcolm said. "We are only trying to get them up to a standard where they can carry on at school and keep up."

Instruction in school subjects for adults also is offered by the college, supplementary to the school districts' adult education programs.

Watchman Foils Safe Burglary

Truck All Ready To Haul Off Loot

Thieves who struck at two business premises in Greater Victoria early Sunday morning were frightened off before they could steal anything.

Sewage Plant Most Economic Hearing Told

A sewage treatment plant for the Colquitz area is the most economic step now although a pipeline to dump sewage into the sea will be needed eventually, B.C. pollution control board was told today.

The assessment came from two engineer witnesses called by Saanich municipality in its efforts to obtain a permit from the board to dump 750,000 gallons of sewage effluent a day into Colquitz Creek draining into Portage Inlet.

The board, under chairmanship of J. Everett Brown, opened the public hearing in the Law Courts Building with lawyers William McIntyre and T. P. O'Grady representing Esquimalt and Victoria in opposition.

Metro health board chairman Coun. G. K. Sammon also appeared as an opponent of the Saanich scheme.

SEWER PIPELINE

The opponents of the Saanich application want construction of a sewer pipeline to the open strait rather than drainage into Portage Inlet.

Portland engineering consultant Loren Thompson, who recommended the sewage treatment plant and drew up the Saanich master plan for sewer development, said special precautions would have to be taken with the plant to duplicate equipment so 95 per cent of bacteria was removed even during a breakdown.

"It's essential that we maintain good treatment 24 hours a day every day of the week," Mr. Thompson said.

He added that the treatment plant, costing about $400,000, would be adequate for serving 15,000 people in the Colquitz basin where there are now only 6,000.

MOST ECONOMICAL

The plant would be the most economical method considering the number of taxpayers now in the area, but "disposal in the sea will become desirable and possibly essential once the population reaches about 20,000," he said.

He said with the tidal action in Portage Inlet and the proposed quantities of effluent, the algae problem in the Gorge should be "negligible."

Under cross-examination, he admitted that the algae problem on Lake Washington, at Seattle, had forced plans to replace present sewage treatment facilities with a pipeline to the sea.

CONSENT INDICATED

Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life said he could not understand the present opposition to the treatment plant because consent by health and municipal bodies had been "implicitly" indicated for some time.

He said the successful battle by the four municipalities to force a private apartment development on Christie Point to build sewers instead of a treatment plant discharging into Portage Inlet could not be regarded as a precedent against Saanich.

The 1957 master plan also proposed construction of the sea outfall "at a future date, possibly 1975," he said.

NEEDS OF 80,000

He said the outfall would handle the needs of 80,000 people but would increase the proposed cost by $875,000.

This would add $33 to the annual $60 average local improvement tax now proposed by Saanich over a 20-year period. If a 30-year period to pay for the project was selected, it would increase the annual charge from an average $50 to $77.

NATIONAL CURATOR SEES SHOW

Russell Harper, curator of Canadian art at the National Gallery of Canada, flew back to Ottawa early today after visiting Victoria Art Gallery and meeting local artists.

"He was much impressed with our current exhibition of Oriental art," said Victoria curator Colin Graham. With his Victoria visit, Mr. Harper concluded a three-month survey of painting across Canada.

A night watchman at Weston Bakery Ltd., 754 Fairview, heard burglars who attempted to steal the company safe in one of the bakery delivery trucks at about 1:30 a.m.

They fled when he went to investigate.

ALL READY

The delivery van was backed up to a rear entrance ready to receive the four-foot-high safe which had been moved from an office.

It is not known how entrance was gained to the premises, and nothing was reported missing.

ALARM SOUNDED

It was a burglar alarm system which is believed to have frightened off thieves breaking into Page The Cleaners, at 2929 Douglas, at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police who rushed to the premises in response to the alarm found a window in the southeast corner of the building broken and opened. Nothing was taken.

ITALIAN CHANTEUSE Nina Silvana will add beauty as well as song to the International Festival planned to night, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by the Empress Hotel using European talent. A stunning redhead, Miss Silvana has appeared in leading clubs in the U.S. and in television programs in Italy, Germany and Spain. She is a popular singer but also has studied operatic singing as a lyric soprano.

Mental Home Murder Attempt Trial Postponed

Trial of Peter Howard Dootson on a charge of attempted murder last Oct. 19 at the Colquitz Mental Home has been postponed until 11 a.m. Tuesday in B.C. Assize Court here.

Victoria Courthouse officials and jurymen waited almost an hour after the trial was scheduled to begin at 11 this morning.

During this time, Crown prosecutor J. Alan Baker and defence counsel Alan Bigelow conferred with Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker in his chambers.

Mr. Justice Whittaker then assembled the court and announced postponement until Tuesday. He gave no reasons. Dootson, a psychiatric nurse's aid at the Colquitz home, is charged with the attempted murder of Robert Robinson, 64-year-old fellow employee.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Electric Club: 12:05 p.m., Colony Motor Hotel; annual meeting and Archie Smith, "Sightseeing in Venice."

Victoria Kiwanis Club: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel; Frank Ney, "Hovercraft."

Victoria North Kiwanis Club: 6:15 p.m., Tally Ho; Dr. Joseph A. Pearce, "Moon Landings — The Technical Difficulties."

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi claimed to have evidence that a top Liberal tried to bribe a U.S. contractor to "get him," Liberal Leader Ray Perrault charged today.

Mr. Perrault said the highways minister told him personally he had evidence which "could blow this hearing sky high."

When the legislature's public accounts committee refused to call for the evidence this morning, Mr. Perrault threatened to resign from it.

The committee is hearing allegations of highway graft.

The government majority on the committee — eight Socialists to five Opposition MLAs — defeated Mr. Perrault's motion to either get the evidence or seek permission of the House to turn the whole inquiry over to a Supreme Court judge.

Mr. Perrault told the committee Mr. Gaglardi had called him out of the legislature last Wednesday.

"He claimed to have on his desk two affidavits purporting to link a high ranking Liberal with attempts to bribe a person who is now a witness at these hearings."

Mr. Perrault said Mr. Gaglardi told him the witness was Clyde W. Thornton, who has already testified that he never received favors from Mr. Gaglardi in government projects.

Offer Mentioned

He said Mr. Gaglardi mentioned an offer of $50,000 to $100,000 from the Liberal, whom he wouldn't identify.

Mr. Perrault had copies of a letter he wrote to the minister immediately after this conversation, calling upon him to present his affidavits to the inquiry.

It came back with this handwritten note on the envelope: "I would appreciate your destroying this note and forget I ever talked to you. I only deal from the top of the deck. Thank you kindly. Phil."

The hearing adjourned until 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, when it will hear a federal government works employee who inspected Project 819, the centre of the allegations of graft.

Private Fight

Victoria's Sacred J. Donald Smith termed Mr. Perrault's statement "a private fight" which should not spread to the committee.

Chairman Irvine Corbett (S.C. Yale) ruled Mr. Perrault's motion out of order.

He said the committee had already decided that it would hear witnesses, not affidavits.

If there was any matter which anybody thought should go before the Supreme Court, he told Mr. Perrault, then it was up to them to take it there.

He said Mr. Gaglardi would be able to "clear up the matter" when he is called as a witness.

"I'll be glad to," the minister called from the sidelines.

Mr. Perrault insisted that he be allowed at least to file his letter and Mr. Gaglardi's answer.

"We don't want the letter," said Waldo Skillings (S.C. Victoria).

Committee counsel Lloyd G. McKenzie backed Mr. Corbett on the affidavits, but suggested they should be filed in the legislature.

Confidence Betrayed

"I think it's a betrayal of personal confidence," Mr. Skillings said.

"Is the minister of highways attempting to intimidate any member of the committee?" asked Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

"He's too small to intimidate anybody," said Mr. Skillings.

Mr. Corbett repeated his ruling and it was upheld by a vote of seven to five.

Mr. Perrault, white-faced, left Courtroom D where the hearings have been under way at the Law Courts for more than two weeks.

"I'm seriously considering withdrawing from these hearings," Mr. Perrault said.

He said he would assess his position later today.

He went back into the hearing for the rest of the morning then headed straight for a Liberal caucus meeting at lunchtime.

Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook) questioned E. H. Barclay, resident engineer on project 819, controversial estimate number five, finally getting the engineer to admit his explanation of a change in the amount of material listed was "worthless."

"Would I be fair in concluding in my own mind that the changed estimate number five was done in Victoria completely, and not on your instruction?" Mr. Nimsick asked.

The engineer explained that he and highways department regional engineer D. J. Gormley went over the estimate and Mr. Gormley phoned the highways department in Victoria to have the figures altered.

Mr. Barclay said that after five years — the work was done in 1957 — he was trying to "get an approximation of how the estimate was changed."

Honorable P.A. Gaglardi,
Minister of Highways,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mr. Gaglardi,

This afternoon, you will recall, you asked me to step outside of the House to discuss with you some of the aspects of the current hearings before the Standing Committee on Public Accounts.

During the course of our conversation, you advised me that you "had on your desk" two affidavits of such a serious nature that they could "blow this hearing wide open". You indicated to me that "a highly-placed Liberal was involved". You intimated to me that this "man" had offered large sums of money to the witness Clyde Thornton to "get you".

As I expressed to you at the time of our meeting, I have absolutely no knowledge of the matters or the affidavits to which you referred.

In view of the situation, I am writing to make my position on this matter perfectly clear. I consider it your duty to turn over to the Public Accounts Committee, by way of the Committee's legal counsel, forthwith any information or documents in your possession which relate in any way to the matters before the Committee.

If you have any material which discloses or suggests impropriety on the part of any individual or individuals in relation to the Government, its officials or its civil servants, I regard it as your duty to act immediately by placing such material in the hands of the proper authorities.

Yours very truly,

R. J. Perrault

Liberal Leader Perrault's letter to Highway Minister Gaglardi

Can I would appreciate you destroying this note & forget I ever talked to you. I only deal from the top of the deck. Supply the deck. Phil

Guatemala Fighting Sabotage

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—The government declared a state of siege today because of a "vast plot" aimed at its overthrow.

The presidential decree revoking constitutional guarantees for 30 days came after weekend acts of sabotage and terrorism which the government attributed to "armed bands of subversive elements."

These include cutting communications lines between Guatemala City and the Atlantic port of Puerto Barrios and seizures of dynamite and subversive documents in the border town of Pedro Alvarado.

The government said there had been "contacts" between national guardsmen and anti-government forces, but did not elaborate.

"Recognized Communist elements acting in concert with countries of the same ideology have prepared a vast plan of agitation and violence throughout the national territory endangering public order, life and property... whose principal objective... is to overthrow the constitutional government," an official statement said.

Them northern fliers weren't half as lost as some of the election candidates are.

Got a hunch a good many of the Conservatives at John's meetin' will be goin' jist fer a farewell look.

BULLETINS

Queen to Miss Prorogation

Queen Elizabeth will not be able to visit Victoria to officiate at prorogation of the B.C. Legislature, it was announced at the opening of the House this afternoon by Premier Bennett. (See earlier story, Page 13).

Climbers Hunted

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A six-man rescue squad headed into the rugged Mount Slesse area near here today to search for two inexperienced climbers missing since Sunday night. They were identified as Paul Ingolange, 23, of New Westminster, and Anthony Campbell, of Vancouver.

Heat Hits N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—A minor heat wave sent the mercury soaring today to a record 78 degrees. It was the warmest day here since last Oct. 12 and broke the March 25 record, set in 1913, by one degree.

'No Evidence'

BONN (Reuters)—Chief government spokesman Guenther von Hase said today the West German government has so far found no grounds for thinking West German scientists in Egypt are working on development of nuclear, bacteriological or chemical weapons.

Foreign Aid Welching Denied

Prime Minister Diefenbaker was scheduled to arrive at Patricia Bay Airport at 3 p.m. today. He was to go directly to the Empress Hotel to rest before addressing a meeting at 8 p.m. in Bay Street Armory.

By PETE LOUDON
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—Prime Minister Diefenbaker today denied Washington charges that Canada is welching on foreign aid.

He said in an interview: "Canada has been one of the leaders" in this field.

He said his government has increased Colombo Plan contributions from $35 million to $50 million.

"If we're not giving enough today, what must the situation have been when we came into office?" he asked.

His comments, his first after arriving in British Columbia Sunday night, were in reply to charges made on the weekend by a special U.S. committee set up by President Kennedy. (See story page 7.)

NEARLY DELAYED

The Diefenbaker arrival at the coast was almost delayed by a mountain slide.

The CPR "Canadian" passenger train, which followed the Diefenbaker train by 24 minutes, was delayed.

Printers Agree

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking printers have ratified a new contract with New York's eight closed daily newspapers. But the last of four striking unions, the photo engravers, continued to hold out today for a better agreement, delaying resumption of publication.

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)—A man and a woman were rescued from the frozen wilds of northern British Columbia today, 50 days after their plane crashed into a mountain side 75 miles southeast of here. Both were injured and had beer, without food for more than a month.

Pilot Ralph Flores, 42, of San Bruno, Calif., and Helen Klaben, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., were picked up by a small aircraft and flown to Watson Lake.

Their single-engine Howard aircraft vanished Feb. 4 on a flight from Whitehorse, Y.T., to Fort St. John, B.C. The wreckage and an SOS were spotted accidentally Sunday by a Watson Lake pilot.

A pilot who helped in the rescue said Miss Klaben had gangrene in a broken right foot and a broken right arm in a splint. Flores suffered broken ribs.

Miss Klaben was reported down to 90 pounds.

The giant SOS stamped in the snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

SEARCHERS QUIT

Organized search for the Flores plane was suspended by the RCAF March 6 after an area of 147,603 square miles had been covered from the air.

Komish said in a phone interview with an Edmonton radio station that a giant SOS stamped in the deep snow caught Hamilton's eye as he was flying back to Watson Lake.

Hamilton said he saw two persons, one of them a woman, near the wing of a plane on the side of a 4,000-foot mountain about six miles from Aeroplane Lake.

He said smoke from a nearby campfire obscured his vision. He saw "N588 on the wing. The Flores plane was marked 'N58856'."

Komish said the missing plane did not carry the "best in survival equipment." Search officials reported the plane carried high frequency radio equipment.

DOG TEAM SETS OUT

Two trappers Hamilton met at Aeroplane Lake Sunday planned to set out for the area by dog team. There was plenty of snow, ranging in depth from 26 to 43 inches.

Flores had gone to the Yukon in October, 1960, to work on the Distant Early Warning line as a mechanic. Miss Klaben, a former employee of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in Fairbanks, Alaska, was on her way to Seattle to catch a plane for Brooklyn to visit her mother, Mrs. Ida Klaben.

The plane had fuel for six hours flying time when it left Whitehorse on the afternoon of Feb. 4 on a 3½-hour flight to Fort St. John.

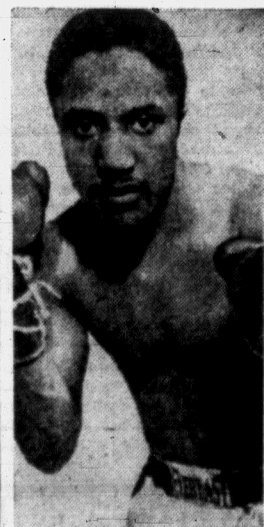

On the same day that the Howard aircraft disappeared, a twin-engine private plane ran into icing conditions in the Fort St. John area and made a forced landing at Little Boulder, B.C.

However, that aircraft was undamaged and its two occupants, Ernest Wright of Kaslo, B.C., the pilot, and C. Carriere of Spokane, Wash., were uninjured.

In Brooklyn, Mrs. Ida Klaben described her daughter as a "beautiful girl, very athletic in all ways" with skill at various sports, including skiing, hunting and trapping game.

"They may have had to do—"

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy," is certainly true of Robert Taylor.

And of me.

Worldly, handsome, enormously successful Bob sat in his commodious suite at the Hotel Pierre recently—and swapped country-boy reminiscences with this Broadway columnist who boasts of being born on a farm.

"I once drove a team of horses for a threshing ring," I volunteered. "I was water boy."

"I did that, too!" Bob's eyes flashed. "I got a dollar a day."

"Do you remember those feasts the farmers' wives cooked for the threshers?" I asked.

"Stop it! You'll make me hungry!" Bob said. "Stacks of fried chicken, mountains of mashed potatoes, pies and cakes at noon. And we'd go right from the table out into the fields in the hot sun."

Bob wagged his head sadly. "Now they don't do it that way. They have tremendous combines that do the whole thing. I remember," he went on, "the first time when I was riding on a wagon with my dad and he asked me if I'd drive the team."

"You'd have thought I'd got a Rolls Royce!"

And today Bob and his beautiful German wife, Ursula Thless, a former actress, and their children, Terry, 7, and Tessa, 3, live on a ranch outside Hollywood, where Bob has four mares, a stallion and eight riding horses—13 in all.

"I'm raising 'em to sell," Bob said. "Do you know the price of hay has gone up fantastically? Hay is selling for $46 a ton. Forty-six bucks, Yeow!"

It struck both of us as funny—we two city chaps talking about the price of hay—in the Hotel Pierre.

"You see," Farmer Bob explained, "they pelletize that West Coast hay—mix it with molasses and a little grain—and ship it to Japan. That's why it's $46 a ton."

The farm experience has helped Bob in many Westerns—and particularly in his last film, "Miracle of the White Stallions," which concerns a true Second Great War incident. Gen. Patton ordered his "cowboys" to rescue some 70 stallions and 200 mares which had fallen to the enemy.

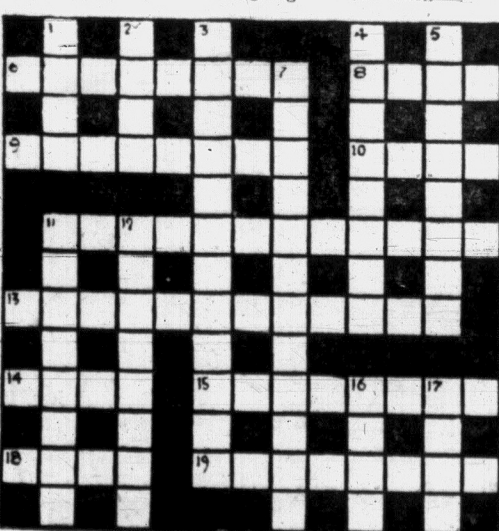

"I played the colonel and head of a riding school, and had to ride that Viennese 'dressage' style," he said. "That was unnatural to me. I learned to ride as a kid in Nebraska. My dad said, 'Here's your horse. Get on and ride.' And then in the movies, I learned some riding tricks from Harry Carey, Tom Mix and those guys. When I got to Vienna, I found out I didn't know how to ride at all."

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

DENIAL that she was planning to wed New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was made Friday night in Philadelphia by actress Joan Crawford. "I don't need this publicity," she said, "and I'm sure he doesn't." Miss Crawford, with her daughter, Cindy, 16, is holding award given her by Philadelphia Women's Advertising League. (AP Wirephoto).

Second Victim

NEW YORK (AP)—Davey Moore was the second boxer to die following a knockout at the hands of Sugar Ramos.

According to the Ring Record Book, Ramos knocked out Jose (Tiger) Blanco in the eighth round at Havana, Nov. 8, 1958. Blanco succumbed the next day from brain injuries.

hours, struck a 50-ton boulder. No one was injured although the locomotive was derailed in Albert Canyon near Revelstoke.

CPR officials were unable to say how long it was after the prime minister's train had passed that the boulder came down.

The "Canadian" was expected to be delayed nine hours, officials added.

SMALL CROWDS

Since his arrival in the province, the prime minister has been greeted by small crowds. Between 50 and 80 persons met him at whistle stops at Golden and Revelstoke, where he did no speaking but much handshaking.

At Vancouver, his arrival was quiet except for two bagpipers. Only a handful of people were at the trackside.

He ate breakfast in the station cafe, where the 138 persons seated with him appeared as a large crowd. About 60 persons, several of them carrying Tory placards, stood outside.

WITH GREENS

The prime minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker shared a table with External Affairs Minister Howard Green and Mrs. Green, when not table-hopping.

Vancouver Tory candidates Fergie Browne and Douglas Jung also were present. B.C. Conservative Association president Cecil Merritt, VC.

had accompanied the prime minister from Revelstoke.

The breakfast was climaxed by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" to which the prime minister replied: "Everywhere the swing is in our favor."

He said he made the same prediction in 1957 and in 1958. He said it would be impossible to describe the change in public opinion toward his party in recent days.

"We've been assisted by the Opposition—I give them full marks," the prime minister added.

He referred in this to the Liberal comic color book, the "truth squad" and the pigeons used to ridicule Tory candidate Louis Pigeon in a Quebec riding.

One of the staunch Tories at the breakfast, Vancouver lawyer Edward McCullough, left in an angry mood. Someone had stolen his hat, he said. In his search, he checked the blue Homburg worn by the PM's aide, B. T. Richardson.

Mr. Richardson earlier had sharp words for a Vancouver radio reporter, blaming him for holding a microphone too close to the prime minister's face while pictures were being taken.
